Top Of The Morning

WEATHER

Mostly cloudy and little change in temperature today. Morning snow flurries will end this afternoon. Cloudy and a little warmer tonight with snow or rain possibly developing. High today 42; low tonight in the mid 30s. Winds are northwesterly at 10 to 20 mph becoming south southeasterly tonight. Tomorrow mostly cloudy with little change in temperature. Sunrise, 7:17 a.m.; sunset, 4:56 p.m. Saturday's local 7 a.m. report: .48 precipitation, river level 6.1 and falling, high 43, low 34. Yesterday's 7 a.m. report: .45 precipitation, river level 6.1 and rising, high 35, low 28.

WARREN COUNTY

Fire destroyed a major portion of the Barry W. Simon residence in Cherry Grove early last night. Simon, his wife, and baby had left for Frewsburg, N.Y., a half hour before the fire started. The Sheffield Fire Department and four other companies fought the blaze for three hours.

PENNSYLVANIA

Rep. Martin P. Mullen, strong supporter of state aid to nonpublic schools, contends the issue should be a part of the state tax negotiations, opposing its proposed isolation in order to have the tax compromise resolved by Nov. 30.

THE NATION

The tentative settlement of the two-month-old strike of technicians against the American Broadcasting Company was announced by the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service. The terms of the agreement to end the walkout by 1,500 union members were withheld, however.

A compromise bill that would extend federal jurisdiction over the country's meat supply, and which goes well beyond a House-passed bill, has emerged in the Senate. Administration officials hailed the stronger measure, which now goes to the Senate Agriculture Committee.

THE WORLD

To protect the dollar in the wake of Britain's devaluation of the pound, the Federal Reserve System announced an increase in the discount rate from 4 per cent to 4.5 per cent. The discount rate, which is the amount commercial banks pay to borrow money from the Federal Reserve System, is one of the basic interest rates in the economy, and its increase is expected to raise the cost of money for borrowers throughout the country. Canadian banks officials announced a similar increase in the lending rate there.

The finance ministers of the six Common Market countries, including France, agreed to contribute to the $1.4 billion loan that Britain wants from the International Monetary Fund. Michel Debre, the French minister of economy and finance, was chairman of the unusual night meeting in Paris. He told reporters afterwards that the I.M.F. loan was separate from the $1.6 billion that Britain expects to get from 10 or 11 western nations.

Speaking on television from 10 Downing Street, Prime Minister Harold Wilson asked the British people to respond to the devaluation of the pound by working harder and less selfishly, for their country's good. "This is a proud nation," he said, "we're on our own now. It means putting Britain first."

Gen. William C. Westmoreland said that U.S. and South Vietnamese forces are "winning a war of attrition." The American military commander in Vietnam predicted that the U.S. may be able to begin withdrawing troops from South Vietnam in two years or less if the bombing of North Vietnam is continued and the South Vietnamese army is strengthened.

In Vietnam, on the 17th day of the battle for the central highlands, South Vietnamese paratroops drove a North Vietnamese force from a mountain overlooking Dak To. South Vietnamese paratroops and infantry had struggled for four days to take the hill.

Warren's Edinboro Campus Basketball team opens its 1967-68 season tonight by hosting the Pitt Campus team from Bradford. Three starters, Paul Johnston, Eric Jones and Leo Schlanger, return from last year to lead the locals into the game. Page 11.

Cleveland rallied in the final seconds yesterday to defeat the Minnesota Vikings and take over first place in the NFL's Century Division. The Baltimore Colts remained the only unbeaten pro team by routing Detroit and Washington defeated Dallas. San Diego nipped the Kansas City Chiefs in a key AFL contest and Denver upset the Buffalo Bills. Page 10.

O. J. Simpson scored the winning touchdown Saturday as Southern California slipped past USC 24-20 in the major college "Game of the Year." Minnesota routed previously undefeated Indiana, 33-7 to move closer to a Rose Bowl berth and Yale whipped Princeton, 29-7 to clinch the Ivy League title. Page 10.

U.S. Planes Hit New Targets Near Hanoi; Two Shot Down

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAGON (AP) — American warplanes mounted heavy raids yesterday against the Hanoi and Haiphong areas, hitting two targets close to Hanoi for the first time in the war.

The raids cost at least two American planes and their pilots, U.S. headquarters announced. North Vietnam's official news agency claimed 17 American planes were shot down yesterday and that a sizeable number of pilots were captured. This was by far the largest American loss claimed by the Communists for a single day.

By American count, however, nine planes have gone down over the North since last Thursday—including the two yesterday—and 11 fliers are missing. In South Vietnam, heavy new fighting was reported around Dak To and the casualties mounted on both sides in the epic battle in the central highlands.

In the fighting yesterday, the U.S. Command reported 43 American soldiers killed and 52 wounded in two engagements with North Vietnamese regulars. The command said seven North Vietnamese were killed in one of these actions and gave no count of enemy dead in the other.

U.S. casualties for the 18-day-old battle for Dak To stood at 197 killed and 750 wounded as against 868 Communists killed by American forces and at least 250 more by South Vietnamese troops.

Public Can View 'New' PB&T Offices Tonight

By NATALIE WILLIAMS

What can you do with a "pie-shaped" building to give it a new look?

Find an architect who can create the illusion of a rectangle inside so that the new blends with the old and tradition is maintained.

That's what the Pennsylvania Bank and Trust Co. did and according to Merle Mitham, vice president and trust officer, and Paul E. Harrington, vice president, officers, employees and customers are extremely happy with the results.

The public will have an opportunity to view the completely renovated bank tonight from 6 to 9 p.m.

Local architect Jeremy Fisher drew plans for the new interior. The feeling is one not only of beauty but of strength and stability. And there is no jarring note as one enters the familiar wedge-shaped building in the heart of the downtown shopping center.

Of particular interest to local people will be the three flags identifying the nations under which this county has been ruled—the French, the British and the American—which will be spotlighted and not only enhance the work of the Historical Society but also better identify the building.

The canopy erected over the entrance was also chosen with a dual purpose—to provide a place out of the weather for building tenants and bank customers and to further identify the structure. The black satin finished letters on the canopy stand out clearly.

"We always have time for you," says the legend under the clock. And that is the feeling one gets when entering the bank. Unhurried attention will be given to financial matters although today's methods expedite transactions. Confidential affairs can be discussed easily in ap-

Federal Reserve Ups Bank Rate To 4.5 Per Cent

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board reacted to the British pound devaluation yesterday by announcing an increase in its discount rate from 4 to 4 1/2 per cent effective today.

Action came at an emergency weekend meeting of the board following devaluation of the pound from $2.80 to $2.40 and a boost in the Bank of England discount rate from 6 to 8 per cent.

Officials said the Federal Reserve action is designed to prevent an "inordinate flow" of dollars overseas in view of the British belt-tightening but it could also have the side effect of helping to fight inflationary pressure at home.

The discount rate is the interest banks must pay the federal reserve system for money they borrow to maintain sufficient reserves.

Other interest rates are pegged upward from the discount rate but the action announced yesterday follows the financial markets rather than leads them.

There was no immediate comment from the White House.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler said in a statement last night that the events of the past 24 hours "have demonstrated the strength of the international monetary arrangement and the spirit of monetary cooperation" in the free world.

And he expressed confidence the new British program will achieve its objective.

The increased discount rate is expected to have little, if any, immediate effect on the average American consumer since interest rates are already at their highest levels in almost a half century.

Officials indicated the Federal Reserve's action was more of a reaction to the 8 per cent British bank rate than the devaluation of the pound.

"This serves notice that the nation is not willing to let dollars flow out of here willy nilly," one source said.

In its formal announcement, the board said it acted in light of the British devaluation to "assure the continued orderly functioning of U.S. financial markets and to maintain the availability of reserves to the banking system."

It described a basic purpose as fostering sustained economic growth at home and a sound international position for the dollar.

One source called the move a "modest precautionary step," to bring the Federal Reserve discount rate more in line with other interest rates.

Some officials believe the increase will tend in the long run to raise the interest rates banks charge for loans.

It was emphasized, however, that the reasons for the increase this time differs markedly from the latest previous rise on Dec. 6, 1965 which was designed to stem inflation.

That increase also was from 4 to 4 1/2 per cent. The rate was returned to 4 per cent last April 7.

The move was immediately criticized by Chairman Wright Patman D-Texas of the House Banking Committee, a frequent critic of Federal Reserve policy.

"I don't like it," he said. "...the people are fed up with crushing interest rates."

Patman contended the increase is unneeded to counter any international drain on the dollar. He said the devaluation is "just an excuse" to raise the discount rate.

"They never do things to help the public," Patman said in referring to the Federal Reserve Board. "They do things to help the banks."

The board's discount action applies to 10 of the 12 federal reserve banks. Only the Philadel-

Devaluation of Pound Brings Varied Reaction

By LAWRENCE MALKIN
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Forced to devalue the pound, Prime Minister Harold Wilson told the British people last night they now have the chance to "break out of the straitjacket" of boom and bust which has held back their economic growth for 15 years.

Wilson went on nationwide television to explain Saturday's devaluation of the pound by 14.3 per cent against the dollar, from $2.80 to $2.40. He looked worn and tired after a week of crisis that marked the collapse of his government's three-year struggle to save the pound.

As he spoke from No. 10 Downing Street, demonstrators milled outside. One of them threw an egg at Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan. He missed.

The Labor government's new economic policy represents a gamble that a cut-rate currency will boost overseas sales and bring back prosperity. First returns from Britain's trading partners indicated the gamble might pay off. Most held their own currencies steady to give Britain at least a temporary competitive advantage.

As Wilson explained it, the economic straitjacket on Britain was this: "Every time we tried to solve our problems by expanding production, by mobilizing the efforts and skills of our people on the basis of full employment, the immediate result was a desperate trade and payment deficit."

He admitted that Britain did not have enough in reserve to meet "the change and chance of world events" — such as the Middle East war and British dock strikes which put Britain into the red this year and intensified speculation that the pound would have to fall at last.

"Exports, even our increasing exports," he said, "could not

Chlorine Gas Threatens Town; 3,000 Evacuated

NEWTON, Ala. (AP) — Barricades came down for a few minutes last night and residents of this country town, blockaded from their homes because of threatening chlorine gas, ran home for a few essentials.

"They gave us just enough time to get the essentials," said Kathy McDonald, a young housewife who was among the 100-old family representatives bussed quickly to their homes.

"I'd say three or four minutes," Officials, declining to spell out publicly the danger surrounding a derailed tank car of lethal chlorine, continued to bar the 3,000 residents from the town for the second night.

Bull Tramples

Sparta Man, 74

SPARTANSBURG, Pa. (AP) — A Crawford County man was trampled to death on his farm yesterday by a bull. Floyd Brown, 74, of Spartansburg had gone to the pasture to feed the bull, a son said.

They allowed one person from each household a quick trip home to pick up medicine and other personal things. Many came back with suitcases and food. One had a pet dog.

Earlier, officials had said the immediate danger was past and that fires, which threatened to explode the chlorine-filled tanker, were under control.

However, authorities directing operations from a state patrol mobile unit in Newton, declined comment on reports that new fires had broken out.

An officer at one of the road blocks said he had heard that a new fire had started underneath the tanker and that there was renewed danger of explosion. A soldier from Ft. Rucker, who was stationed at a Red Cross aid station, said eight fire-fighting units had been rushed toward the wreckage earlier in the evening.

Officials said only they believed there was still enough danger present to warrant keeping the area isolated for two miles around the wreck.

The tanker, one of 49 cars of a

THE NEW AND THE OLD BANK AND TRUST COMPANY BUILDINGS

The Pennsylvania Bank and Trust Company has just completed an extensive remodeling program of its office facilities. The remodeling project began May 1 and marks the first major reconstruction project at the Warren office since 1927. An open house to show the public the bank's completely remodeled facilities will be held tonight from 6 to 9. To officially open the proceedings, Doris Ann Lausch, Miss Pennsylvania will cut a ribbon made of one hundred one dollar bills. The Pennsylvania Bank and Trust Company a local landmark, illustrated in these photographs as it appeared May 30, 1927 and as it appears today has been serving Warren residents as a Bank and Trust Company for nearly 40 years.

War

With the end of the Dak To fighting still not in sight, U.S. B52 heavy bombers carried out four more raids last night and today in the embattled sector. Two eight-engine bombers hit at troop concentrations, base camps and escape routes 14 to 17 miles southwest of Dak To. The escape routes bombed were located southwest of the fighting area and leading to the Laos-Cambodia border junction.

In the stepped-up air assault against North Vietnam, U.S. Air Force jets flew through heavy antiaircraft fire to hit at a Hanoi concrete production plant six miles west-northwest of the capital and the Thu Phuong barge yard and transshipment point seven miles west-northwest of the city.

Both targets were hit yesterday for the first time in the war, the U.S. Command said.

The two U.S. planes lost in yesterday's raids, both Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs, raised to 747 the announced American losses over the North in nearly three years of bombings.

Air Force pilots, flying in from bases in Thailand, reported destroying one SAM site 11 miles southwest of Hanoi and damaging six other missile sites near the capital. At the destroyed site, pilots reported one of the Soviet-made missiles misfired, tumbled end over end and exploded a mile away from the site. Pilots also reported another missile bouncing along the ground after it was launched.

With Air Force pilots concentrated on the Hanoi area, Navy fliers from aircraft carriers in the Gulf of Tonkin struck inside and around Haiphong.

Train

Seaboard Coast Line Railroad freight train which derailed Saturday night, was first threatened by fiercely burning fires near it.

Police Chief Tom Goff of nearby Ozark, Ala., said firemen used gallons of foam and tons of earth pushed up by bulldozers to isolate the tanker from the original blaze which officials said seemed under control yesterday afternoon.

The officials pointed out that some of the deadly gas may have escaped as the intense heat popped safety valves like firecrackers. However, they said firemen, working in gas masks and able to stay in the area only a limited time, did manage to prevent the chlorine-laden car from exploding.

It was the potential for the explosion of the chlorine, as well as other cars loaded with anhydrous ammonia, butane and propane gas, which caused the mass evacuation shortly after dark Saturday.

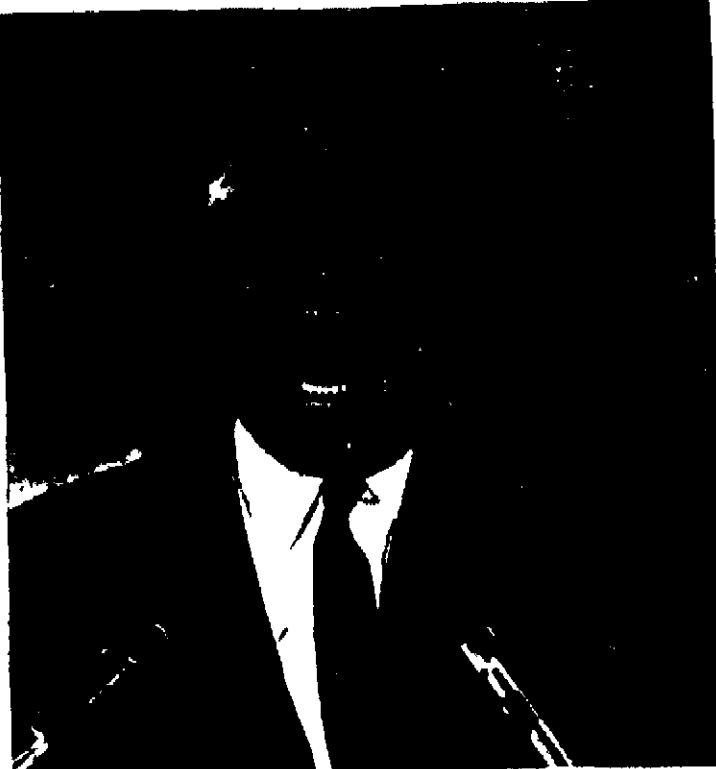

However, officials said none of the highly volatile cars erupted.

Rate

phia and St. Louis banks remain at 4 percent but they are expected to seek the higher rate this week.

The board's statement: "In the light of the action of the British government to change the parity of the pound, the Federal Reserve System announced today (Sunday) that it had taken actions to assure the continued orderly functioning of U.S. financial markets and to maintain the availability of reserves to the banking system on terms and conditions that will foster sustainable economic growth at home and a sound international position for the dollar.

"The Board of Governors unanimously approved actions by the directors of the Federal Reserve Banks of Boston, New York, Cleveland, Richmond, Atlanta, Chicago, Minneapolis, Kansas City, Dallas and San Francisco increasing the discount rates at those banks to 4½ per cent from 4 per cent effective Monday, Nov. 20. In addition the board affirmed that borrowing by member banks for purposes of making adjustment to market pressures is an appropriate use of the discount mechanism.

Wilson Calls on People 'To Put Britain First'

By ALFRED L. KRAUS
(c) N.Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK — Spain devalued its currency by 16.6 per cent last night in the latest move related to the British devaluation of the pound.

The decision was announced at a cabinet meeting called by Generalissimo Francisco Franco, the Spanish chief of state. A statement said the move was required to offset the "sure impact" of the British devaluation on Spanish trade and its earn enough to meet the successive waves of speculation against sterling."

At that point, the choice lay between devaluation or massive new loans to prop up the pound at short range. They came with strings attached, and the government refused them, Wilson said, because "this is a proud nation."

He faced the need to swallow his own—and Callaghan's—past arguments against devaluation. This is how he did it.

"Our decision to devalue attacks our problems at the root. And that's why the international monetary community has rallied round with a display of formidable strength to back the operation. This backing is to deter speculators, not for us to live on. That is why it need not involve unacceptable conditions."

He forecast output would go up in British industries, creating more work in Britain's backward areas.

"For a time all this will cost a lot," he said. "About $1.2 billion of national output will have to be shifted into exports and import-saving. This is why a tight new squeeze on credit has been ordered and public spending, including defense costs, is being cut."

Wilson sought to reassure the needy by promising to safeguard housing, school and hospital-building programs. He called for continued restraints on wages, prices, profits and rents.

The British are furious that even after devaluation, France still refused to join in a short-term credit of $1.6 billion to support the pound against fresh speculation, although the French said last night they accepted the idea of joining in the long-term loan of $1.4 billion that might be negotiated through the International Monetary Fund.

At an extraordinary Sunday night meeting in Paris, finance ministers of the six Common Market countries decided on their contributions to the $1.4 billion loan, but did not announce what each country would contribute.

Romney Attacks LBJ's Handling of Vietnam War

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney, who declared his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination by pledging to lead this country out of the war in Vietnam, said yesterday that neutralizing Vietnam was "the most promising alternative" to the nation's current policy.

"Neutralization is a specific alternative. It deserves very careful study," declared Romney, the first GOP presidential hopeful to throw his hat into the ring.

Romney spoke on the Columbia Broadcasting System Television show "Face the Nation."

The 60-year-old Republican governor accused President Johnson of handling the Vietnam war with a "ping pong" strategy, escalating the war a little, calling for peace and then escalating the war again.

The current administration leads the American people toward "a mountain of false hope only to fall back in the crevice of sickening reality," Romney charged.

The governor was asked to comment on a newspaper editorial that referred to him as an "armchair strategist" and characterized his opinions on the war as "a bowl of verbal mush."

Romney replied that if anyone would "take the time to look at what I said on Vietnam, they would find a consistency with the exception of one stand."

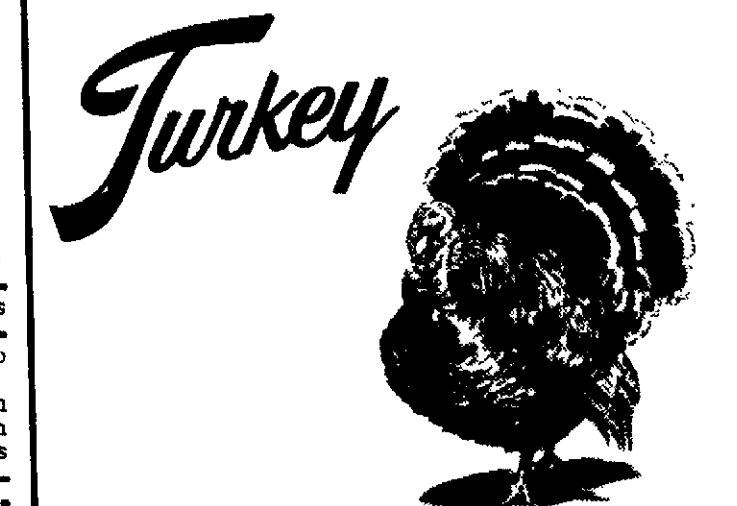

Romney was apparently referring to the time two years ago when he returned from a trip to Vietnam and voiced support for American aims there. In a now well-known shift from that position, Romney said in September he had been "brain-washed" by military men and diplomats on that trip to Vietnam.

Most of the questions and answers on the half-hour television program were devoted to the Vietnam issue.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller reaffirmed his support for Romney, former vice president Richard M. Nixon called Romney a formidable candidate and California Gov. Ronald Reagan said it was too early for him to support Romney or anyone else. All three have been mentioned as possible GOP nominees.

Westmoreland Sees Troop Withdrawal in Two Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland called it conceivable yesterday that Communist strength in South Vietnam would be sapped sufficiently within two years to permit the start of U.S. troop withdrawals.

However, he cautioned, "It may be taken at first."

Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in the Asian war, said the withdrawals would hinge on South Vietnamese troops assuming a greater share of the military effort.

The general said nearly half of the Communist forces in South Vietnam lack combat readiness. He reported "constant, real progress" in the war.

Westmoreland said, "I can foresee within two years or less that we will be able to phase down the level of our military effort, which means that we could reduce the number of people involved."

The comment was Westmoreland's first public confirmation of a withdrawal forecast, originally circulated after he reported behind closed doors last week to the House Armed Services Committee.

Westmoreland and Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, have been in Washington for talks with President Johnson.

They were interviewed yesterday on the NBC television-radio program, "Meet the Press."

Commander of Cyprus Guard Ordered to Athens

BY JAMES FERON

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
NICOSIA, Cyprus — Gen. George Grivas, commander of the Cyprus National Guard, left the island yesterday for consultations with Greek military leaders in Athens.

The general is a central figure in the dispute that has arisen over an attack by government forces against two Turkish Cypriot villages last Wednesday.

The removal of Grivas, who also commands Greek soldiers on the island, was reported to have been one of the demands made by Turkey in the wake of the fighting.

Turkish reconnaissance and fighter planes flew over the island several times Saturday and were reported overhead again yesterday. Sporadic shooting was reported in isolated incidents throughout the island.

Grivas' departure on a scheduled flight was surrounded by elaborate security precautions, including two complete searches of the aircraft at Nicosia airport. The departure was delayed for one hour and 40 minutes, which is about the flight time to Athens. This was apparently intended to permit any device on board to explode while the plane was still on the ground.

The general declined comment before he left. His aide said that he was returning for consultations, with the Greek general staff from whom he takes direct orders, and might return in a few days.

An hour after he left the Cyprus government reported that a Turkish aircraft had violated Cyprus air space at 11 a.m., flying about six miles off the northern coast. Unconfirmed reports said the plane had crossed the island from the southwest.

The United Nations reported, meanwhile, that Greek and Turkish Cypriots had exchanged fire for about 20 minutes Saturday night in the Limnitis area, a Turkish enclave in the northern coast.

Although government officials have refused to discuss the events surrounding the Wednesday operation against the villages of Kophinou and Ayios Theodoros, it is understood that the order to withdraw came directly to Grivas from Athens.

When it convenes for its first meeting, in January, the Municipal Airport Commission could have a GOP majority if the four appointees to the commission selected by Magnuson and the city council are all Republicans.

Of six major city offices, all are expected to have the same department heads with the possible exceptions of the department of public works and the police department. Speculation is running high among leading Republicans that present DPW director Veale and Police Chief John Paladine may be replaced.

Fire Chief Virgil L. Eggleston, comptroller Morland Lazier, city clerk Clinton Watson and assessor Evelyn Hall are all expected to be reappointed by the Republican mayor in the city council.

Mayor Fred H. Dunn and council president John B. Carlson, however, both must give up their seats to their GOP counterparts. Other terms expiring on Dec. 31, include board chairman William A. Taylor, A.B. Bottini, and Claude E. Townsend.

Of three other major boards, the incoming GOP administration will gain control of only the parks and recreation commission where two mayoral appointments and three councilmanic appointments are open. If all five appointments are Republicans, and they are expected to be, the GOP will control the commission by the slim margin of five to four. Four seats on the board of Social Services must be filled; but the Democrats will still hold a one vote edge, even if all the new appointees are Republicans.

Three vacancies exist on the seven-member board at Jamestown General Hospital making it impossible for the GOP to gain control in 1968.

Fire Badly Damages Cherry Grove Home

Fire destroyed what was said to be approximately 80 per cent of the Barry W. Simon residence in Cherry Grove last night a half an hour after the owner and family left for Frewsburg, N.Y. One hundred firemen from five companies were at the scene or on standby. The blaze endangered nearby buildings, but was prevented from spreading.

Sheffield received notice of the fire from neighbors of the Simons at 6:30 p.m. The company alerted and received help from Clarendon, Pleasant Twp., Kane, and Mt. Jewett forces. Sheffield Fire Chief Seaward French reported that there was

Pope Appears For First Time Since Nov. 4

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI appeared and spoke in public yesterday for the first time since his prostate operation Nov. 4. He addressed 20,000 persons at St. Peter's Square for the regular Sunday noon papal blessing.

In a shaking voice that betrayed his emotion and physical weakness, he thanked the Lord for his recovery and reflected on the fragility of human life.

The Pope, 70, said he hoped that "with a little patience," he would be able to resume his normal activities soon.

The pontiff, appearing thinner than the last time he appeared in public Nov. 1, All Saints Day, mounted with uncertainty the several steps enabling him to look out from his studio window on the top floor of the apostolic palace.

He remained at the open window approximately eight minutes in the soft sunshine of a splendid Roman autumn day.

This was taken as a further sign of his improving condition despite his weak voice. Doctors have described his convalescence since the surgery as completely satisfactory. He has been able to leave his bed for long periods and has received church officials on business.

These reports of the Pope's improvement and the fine weather brought a huge throng to the square.

Jamestown's Mayor-Elect Has 35 Appointments to Make

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. — With inauguration day only six weeks away, Mayor-elect Charles B. Magnuson is faced with a difficult task of filling 35 vacancies on more than 20 boards and commissions on the city government.

Racial Furor Continues In Philly

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Furor continued yesterday over the police role in a Black Power demonstration Friday that turned into a bloody, club-swinging melee between helmeted patrolmen and 3,500 high school pupils.

The local branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People joined several civic and civil rights groups already charging police brutality and calling for the firing of Police Commissioner Frank L. Rizzo, who personally commanded the hundreds of patrolmen.

More than 50 persons were arrested and at least a score injured, including several policemen and bystanders as pupils, fleeing police billy clubs, spewed from the demonstration site at the school administration building, knocking down and pummeling pedestrians.

The most drastic changes could come on the board of Public Utilities where the terms of all but two of the eight members expire Dec. 31. Melvin O. Swanson and Marion A. Tanzerella have terms which extend for another two years. Two members of the board, the Mayor and the director of public works, serve by virtue of their offices. With the councilmanic member traditionally being the president of the city council, the possibility exists that DPW director Joseph A. Veale could continue on the board if he is reappointed.

When it convenes for its first meeting, in January, the Municipal Airport Commission could have a GOP majority if the four appointees to the commission selected by Magnuson and the city council are all Republicans.

$5 Million Business

The barest hint of the possibility of bringing into Warren County an industry that would add 5 million dollars a year to its economy would stir up a great commotion in the chambers of commerce, among utilities and all forward-looking groups.

In his weekly column for the Times-Mirror and Observer Saturday, discussing National Farm-City week, County Agent Bernie Wingert once again makes it clear that Warren County already has an industry that brings in excess of 5 million dollars each year into the economy -- Warren County farms.

What concerns Wingert is the apathy he encounters among chambers of commerce, their affiliates, financial institutions and service organizations -- and all-too-many merchants -- toward encouraging the farm families who produce this expendable income to look to Warren as their shopping and cultural center.

The astonishing fact is that the Pennsylvania farmer is a top customer for steel, rubber, petroleum products, trucks and tractors as well as electric power.

What bothers Wingert is the large percentage of Warren County's 5 million dollar farm income that goes to Jamestown, Corry and Titusville. These communities have long been aggressive in cultivating the people of Warren County's farm areas, as well as their own counties. Most of these and other towns are not as near to these customers as Warren.

With missionary zeal, Wingert, who is as close to the Warren County farm community as almost any other individual, has labored long to develop programs in Warren to establish closer and more cordial relations between farm and city. Most of his proposals fall on deaf ears.

An optimist, Bernie Wingert remains ever hopeful that Warren interests will see the light -- if only in their self-interest.

President and Men of God

(c) N. Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON—Learning that the President of the United States was to join his congregation at worship a week ago last Sunday, the Rev. Cotesworth Pinckney Lewis of Bruton Parish Church in Williamsburg, Va., amended his sermon to include remarks about Vietnam.

He said that the country so far had not been given a satisfactory justification for the war. People at the White House were very upset, not because the President introduced a delicate public issue, but because his remarks on the subject were the sort of remarks the President doesn't want to hear.

At the White House, they pointed out, the President does not have to listen to any opinions he doesn't want to hear. Why, they ask, should he be subjected to them in church?

Press and public reaction seems to have favored the President on this issue, and the Reverend Lewis is widely accused of having abused his cloth. It is too bad, Church may be the wrong place for it, but there ought to be one place in American life where a President can suffer the trials of being a captive audience.

A serious defect of the presidency is its tendency to remove presidents from the human condition. An occasional experience of the same agonies that everyone else must suffer in life would probably do wonders at removing the imperial status which these fellows commonly develop after a year or two in the White House.

There is no censure in the press or from the White House when some person with a captive audience of ordinary citizens takes advantage of the captive audience to criticize their living policy or to harass them with reminders of their corruption. Why should the President be immune to the same thing? The President, in fact, is warden of the biggest captive audience in America. Except in church, he commands the floor, the headlines, the picture tube and the airwaves whenever he feels like talking, nobody interrupts him and nobody talks back, except by permission of his appointments secretary.

The episode in the Bruton Church was surely a gain for humanity if the President has since reflected that presidents are often guilty of the same abuse of power against millions that the Reverend Lewis committed against him. As the country's leading audience captor, he should be a more humane president for having tasted the irritation of being forced to listen to opinions he did not want to hear, of being unable to talk back, and of not being able to walk out.

It would probably be a good idea to compel all Presidents once a month to spend an hour gagged in an escape-proof room listening to all the things they have not wanted to hear for the preceding thirty days. It is unlikely that their opinions would be changed much, but the occasional experience of living as people do could only civilize their conduct of the office.

Needless to say, there is little support for this either publicly or at the White House. Since Franklin Roosevelt, the presidency has been inflated in the public esteem to such a degree that the office, if not the man, has acquired a kind of secular holiness. It is not quite the papacy nor the throne of Czarist Russia, but still the public takes offense when a preacher speaks to it as he speaks to people. God's representative is expected to keep a discreet tongue in his head.

The White House, naturally, does not want the President subjected to another experience like last Sunday's. It has now shaken down the government nicely on Vietnam so that the President is not forced to hear from officials any opinions that conflict with his. The Bruton Church incident, however, has reminded everybody that total security against unenthusiastic opinion is jeopardized by the President's habit of attending church.

Henceforth, to protect the President, agents will call Saturday night upon the minister of the church he plans to attend next morning.

Personal interviews will be held to ascertain whether the clergyman sees eye to eye with the President on key issues of the day—Vietnam, poverty, civil rights, dissent, education, etc. If the minister betrays signs of disagreement with administration policy, he will be required to submit a text of his sermon to the White House for review before midnight Saturday. The White House speechwriting staff will be available through the night to supply an alternate sermon if the original cannot pass review.

Separation of church and state is not violated. After all, the founders never maintained that the church had the right to be so separate that it irritates a president.

JIM BISHOP Days And Nights Shorter

HONOLULU, Hawaii — When you are flying 600 miles per hour eastbound, and the sun is westbound at 1,000 miles per hour, the days and nights become short. We left Tokyo in cold rain at 10 a.m. for Hawaii, but it was 4 p.m. in Honolulu, so, by the time my watch read 2:40 p.m. (Tokyo time) night fell with a crash and the big Pan-American 707 looked like a small twinkling red star among a million blue ones.

Our group, the intellectuals, were busy eating, playing gin rummy, and filling out customs declarations. We had flown 17,000 miles out of 23,000, and in a few hours, would be back in the United States. None of us could think of Hawaii as a state. It's an emerald encrusted wristwatch on the arm of the U.S.

So Kelly made out customs declarations of what we had bought for the children and ourselves; the Kroils not only added up what they bought, but Gene kept saying: "I'm the kind of a guy who gets caught with a pair of two dollar cufflinks," so he was nervously adding items he had intended to buy but wasn't sure Sophie purchased.

Wally Lehmann had an 8 mm. Japanese movie camera, which sells for $138 in Hong Kong, higher in Tokyo, and twice as much in the U.S. He took out the receipt and it read "$100," so he declared $100. Richard Winer, the photographer, was adding and subtracting camera lenses and zooms and ingenues, and nothing came out right. A steward passed down the aisle and whispered: "Tough customs agents in Hawaii. They hang you for a silk tie. 'With it,' somebody said. At 10:30 p.m., we were in the customs shed, and a voice whispered: "Don't get in the line where the lady customs agents are. They'll sift your dirty socks for jewelry."

By this time, Kroil was so nervous he was calling me Joey, and my wife murmured: "Is it hot in here or is that perspiration running down my back?" Sophie Kroil reached a spot in front of a customs agent, and put on a smile that immediately froze in the death mask. The customs man had no time for casual friendships. He asked Gene to zip the bags open, one by one, and the man began to look at shirt labels, suit labels, false bottoms (in suitcases, I mean).

Then he studied the declaration form and, although each person is permitted to bring in $100 worth of merchandise free, the Kroil list added up to $650. Six fifty honest and scared. Sophie's teeth, exposed to the glare of lights, began to dry. Then the agent muttered: "Next case," and the couple mopped their brows and left.

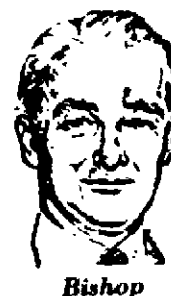

The Bishops got through okay. My wife volunteered the information that she and her husband were using identical crocodile briefcases. This aroused the suspicion of the customs man, who began to wonder whether he had looked at one bag twice. So he started all over again with the Nikon camera and the Hong Kong shirts. Kelly also told him about a dress she had ordered, which would be mailed to our house. He and I had the same thought: she's a mental case. Then I remembered I was standing in a pair of shoes that were a gift from Benny, and that may have cost him $15 Hong Kong. The tiny beads on my forehead looked like diamond chips, and the sweat leaked into the new shoes.

Wally came along and showed the camera and the bill. The man studied the zoom lens. "Most people," he said brusquely, "seem to think we're stupid. This thing, at the very least, cost $140 in Hong Kong, $180 in Tokyo and $230 in the United States. You show me a receipt for an even $100. It's a marked down bill."

He gave Mr. Lehmann his high noon glare. "Now you either put down the right amount on this bill or I'm going to start tearing all your effects apart." Wally swallowed hard. He is the most innocent of the group and wouldn't lift a stray dime out of a grating, unless he had a piece of string and some bubble gum.

Wally said: "Ta-tuh, don't-o-g, but tash, ooh (whistle) it's it's whatever it says on that there paper." The hammer-head shark smiled: "Okay," he said. "We start tearing things open." I leaned over to Mr. L. "You paid $139 for that think," I said. "I was standing beside you. The clerk in Hong Kong gave you a wrong receipt."

"Yeah," Wally said. "Yeah," pointing at me. "Whatever he says," So he changed the figures and the customs agent star-

Confident About History

WASHINGTON—As Lyndon Johnson this week finishes his fourth year as President of the United States, he has become philosophical about unpopularity, confident about history.

His recent quotation from Lincoln at Prime Minister Sato's dinner—"I am here, I must do the best I can, and bear the responsibility of taking the course which I feel ought to take"—reflects this new philosophy.

His reading in the evening reflects it also. The books that line the White House shelves have changed. The dusty volumes on Admiral Mahon's naval strategy, left over from the days of FDR, have gone, replaced by books on George Washington and Abraham Lincoln, and four volumes by Josephus Daniels on the Wilderness.

The President has even become more philosophical about the press. He still is sensitive to criticism, but far less so than Kennedy or Eisenhower or even Franklin Roosevelt. No longer does he argue with newspapermen as he did during his first two years in office.

The President reads the criticism, reads the polls, but is willing to await the final judgment of history.

There was a time when Johnson seriously considered the question of not running again. This was approximately a year ago, just after his gall bladder operation, when he was depressed both by his health and by the exit of his favorite staff member, Bill Moyers.

Actually he is still reserving judgment as to whether he'll run, and this fall replied to a private, point-blank question: "I'm going to cross that bridge when I come to it, and I haven't come to it yet."

Nevertheless, signs are clearly discernible, to those who know the President, that he has just about made up his mind.

He came back from the recent tour of military bases with his morale considerably bolstered. The trip was good for the servicemen he visited, and it was also good for him.

The President enjoyed particularly talking to

Maj. Gen. John M. Wright, Jr., commander of the U.S. Infantry Center at Fort Benning, a veteran of the Korean war and of Corregidor. Referring to those past wars, Gen. Wright added: "I have never seen men in such good shape as they are today. I'd like to think that I was responsible, but I don't think that's the case. Our men are better. They receive better training, and they're doing a better job."

LBJ also got a kick out of the briefing given him by Col. Lamar A. Welch, in charge of parachute training, who explained how some men came right up to the door of the plane ready to jump and then froze.

"This is a job where we don't compel men to jump," explained Col. Welch. "If they can't jump, we just sent them on back to another job in the Army. In the last war we got 40 per cent of our men trained to jump. The others had to go back to other jobs. In the Korean war our jumpers were about 62 per cent. But in this war 92 per cent of our men are coming through with flying colors. They're jumping."

The President also enjoyed his visit to the U.S.S. Enterprise, largest American warship afloat and the only nuclear-powered carrier. It had just returned from the Gulf of Tonkin, and he joined it off San Diego.

The President was given a room almost as big as his bedroom in the White House, and he played host at dinner. He insisted that enlisted men be brought in, along with the officers, as his guests, including a mechanic from Comfort, Texas.

When he was a young Congressman, Lyndon Johnson enlisted in the Navy in World War II and spent some time in the South Pacific. But he never served on a carrier, so got a thrill from watching fighter planes land on the Enterprise's flight deck with machine-like precision.

"Most of us nearly always make some mistakes," he told a friend afterward, "but those pilots came in on the deck without ever making a mistake. There's a trigger mechanism that catches them and slows their speed when they land, and about one out of ten is expected to miss the trigger. That's about par for the course. However, only one missed the trigger when I was there, and he flew around easily and came back again."

Johnson's First Four Years

WASHINGTON — The main question about President Johnson as he starts his fifth year in the White House is whether he can regain that trust among the people which is the first condition of effective leadership.

This is a more important question than whether he can win next year's election, for he could win and still not be able to govern. He is not likely to get a large Democratic majority in the Congress; therefore, he will have to govern by consent. No program that he can devise for a turbulent world and the rebellious cities will be self-evident; therefore, he will have to rely on the faith and trust of the people.

Shortly after that terrible day in Dallas four years ago, President Johnson told a visitor in the White House: "I want to do one thing in this job. I want to unite this country." This, however, is the one thing that has eluded him and it remains his most serious problem.

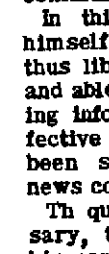

That he realizes this is fairly plain. He is trying desperately now to carry his case on the war to the nation. Watching him these days is like observing a great character actor in a repertory theater. One week he is withdrawn and silent. Another, he is the melancholy Lincoln. Again, he is the avenging angel.

He is experimenting a great deal now with new techniques. After avoiding preannounced television news conferences for ed at all the camera equipment Winer and Haylock had (a hand truck full) and said: "I'm not going through all that stuff. I assume you had this when you left New York?" Winer nodded.

Outside, I studied a sign that said: "Welcome to Hawaii, U.S.A." I said to myself: "This is my own, my native land, and the parole board meets once a week." . . .

It cost operators of a 3,400-pound passenger car $8.5 cents per 100 pounds to register a vehicle in Pennsylvania, while truckers pay 65 cents and up for each 100 pounds of weight.

Staring Down a Gun Barrel

Pennsylvania News Service
HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania's lawmakers gather today literally staring down a gun barrel of sorts.

They have remaining just ten days in which to accomplish what they couldn't in nearly eleven months of gathering around the legislative festive board.

That is, they have just ten "working" days—and that includes Saturday—and Thanksgiving—in which to wind up their affairs if they are to be out of Harrisburg to make way for the convening December 1 of Pennsylvania's first constitutional convention in 94 years.

There have been chits and chats over the possibility of the Legislature continuing in session even though the convention is under way but this unquestionably poses a host of problems.

In the first place the convention is scheduled to take over the 203-seat chamber of the House of Representatives which, if the session were to continue, would mean either the House or the convention would have to move to other quarters—or they could split the time schedule for use of the chamber.

This would mean the House would use the chamber a given few days each week, the convention the remaining few days, a move generally regarded as anything but satisfactory.

In the first place the convention itself would be placed on a restricted operating basis and it only has three months in which to complete its chore. Secondly, plans are to use as many legislative employees as possible inasmuch as they already know the ins and outs of the operational machinery, routine, etc., of the legislative process which is expected to be the pattern to a certain degree of the convention itself.

Thirdly, a number of the delegates to the convention are lawmakers themselves, which means they cannot be two places at once. Or, if the legislative-convention sessions should run back-to-back it would mean trying lawmakers to Harrisburg for virtually the entire week, which few feel they can afford to do inasmuch as the latter part of the week usually is regarded as personal earn-a-buck time on the home front.

And there are a number of other factors that point to a conflict should the two be in session at the same time.

If the December 1 deadline is to be met however, the Legislature has perilously short time in which to move in many fields.

Undeniably the most pressing is settlement of the budget and tax hassle which has frustrated legislative leaders and the Shafar Administration for so many months.

Agreement between legislative leaders and the Governor on the budget and tax increases is one thing—trying to get through the Legislature quite another.

This facet has already been demonstrated where Republican legislative leaders in control in both House and Senate some time ago agreed to support His Excellency's tax increase program but lawmakers themselves (that is, not enough on the GOP side) did not. The result: the impasse that has prevailed since June.

But there is more to it than just the fiscal side insofar as peering down the deadline gun barrel is concerned.

Only a very, very small part of the Governor's own legislative program has gained legislative clearance during this eleven-month marathon—in fact you can almost count the items on one hand.

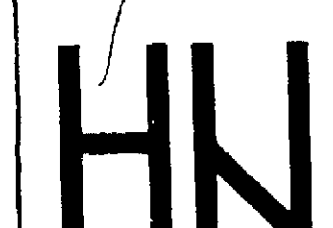

Unquestionably, much of this program will fritter by the wayside in the short time remaining, to be picked up perhaps hopefully in the session next year. Meanwhile however the first year record of His Excellency on the legislative front, insofar as actual accomplishments are concerned, can hardly be considered as anything approaching outstanding. It just isn't there—as yet.

The President is perfectly correct in saying that the enemy will not negotiate and he is correct, I believe, in insisting that he cannot in honor get out. But it was his judgment that put the nation in this predicament, and it is his judgment that the only way to get out of it is to continue and intensify the bombing nearer and nearer the heart of Hanoi.

Accordingly, the issue will have to be put to the jury of the people in the November election. If he gets peace by that time, he may very well regain the lost confidence and be re-elected for another four years but the confidence is the main thing. For even when the war is over, we will face radical problems requiring radical solutions, and these will be attainable only if the President has much more trust and affection that he now enjoys.

Wall Street Waits to See How And Where the Buck Stops

By THOMAS E. MULLANEY
N.Y. Times Financial Editor
(c) N.Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK—While Washington continues to pass the buck of fiscal restraint, Wall Street is watching and waiting to see how and where the buck stops. The financial market is worrying not only about the consequences of intensifying inflationary pressures but also about the fate of the British pound. Interest rates are still soaring, wages and prices continue to rise, the federal deficit is deepening and the United States International payments situation is worsening.

Meanwhile, the administration and Congress are still reluctant to take the steps that most financial experts have been recommending—to increase taxes and reduce non-essential government spending. The implication was that delay in adopting a measure of fiscal restraint would eventually require a tighter monetary policy or controls over credit and possibly other aspects of the economy. Nevertheless financial markets chose to react favorably this week to encouraging news while ignoring the massive symptoms of economic danger. The week's upturn in the stock and bond markets, however, was doubtlessly temporary. Stock prices got a lift from the oversold condition of the market in its swift and sudden decline, the favorable dividend action by American Telephone and some encouraging assessments of Vietnam by Gen. William C. Westmoreland and Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker. The midweek action of American Telephone in voting a 5-cent rise in the quarterly dividend to 60 cents a share was a particularly stimulating factor in the stock market's modest rise.

The bond market took heart from the stepped-up chorus of demands for tax action, withdrawal of a major bond issue from the market and the favorable investor reception accorded some high-interest new bond offerings.

Meanwhile, however, the financial markets had new and serious worries. Particularly disturbing was the rise in the U.S. payments deficit to $670 million in the second quarter, and the nervous fluctuations of the pound sterling in the foreign-exchange markets amid renewed uncertainty about devaluation and Britain's reported efforts to line up further financial support to prevent it.

A major test in the bond market was averted when, late Monday afternoon, the U.S. Steel Corporation, reacting to what it called unsettled bond market conditions, postponed its sale of $225 million of debentures. Interest rates had reached levels not seen since World War I, and investors were slow to buy even at those levels. The steel company's decision helped bring about a shift in mood in the bond market, ending the gloom and spawning a glint of optimism.

Then several large bond issues were offered publicly on Tuesday and Wednesday, some with the most attractive terms in history. For example, a Triple-A issue that may not be redeemed for 10 years was sold at a yield a little higher than 6.5 per cent. These bonds and some others sold out quickly, and bond men breathed more easily.

Most of the week's economic statistics would have been brighter had they not been affected by strikes, particularly in the automotive and copper industries. The seven-week strike at Ford has been responsible for holding back the U.S. output of goods and services by $2 billion in the third quarter and will have a further influence in the fourth quarter, as well as an expected walkout at the General Motors Corporation. The third quarter's gain in the G.N.P. was $16.1 billion.

Now, instead of the $18 billion to $20 billion increase in G.N.P. that many forecast for the fourth quarter, the rise may be closer to the $11.4 billion estimated by the Argus Research Corporation. The nationwide copper mining strike entered its fifth month on Nov. 15. It has shut down more than 90 per cent of the industry, idled 50,000 workers and caused the loss of nearly 500,000 tons of refined production up to the end of October. Union demands are said to be in excess of the 90-cents-an-

Counter List Up Smartly; Amex Slips

By WILLIAM D. SMITH

The little guys did better than the big guys in the nation's security markets last week. The over-the-counter issues generally fared better than their Big Board and American Stock Exchange brothers. The National Quotation Bureau's index of over-the-counter industrial stocks climbed 5.17, to 328.28, while the Dow Jones average on the New York Stock Exchange dipped 0.70, to 862.11, and the Amex index fell 24 cents, to $21.67.

"We did surprisingly well but in recent months the unlisted issues haven't been following the exchanges as closely as in the past," a dealer remarked. Most of the unlisted gains, however, were fractional and resulted from a rally during the last two sessions. Sellers predominated during the first three days of the week, but a rally developed early Thursday and accelerated on Friday. Most issues closed near their highs for the week.

The postponement of Project Gasbuggy, an experimental use of a nuclear explosion to obtain locked-in natural gas, pushed down the stocks of two of the companies involved, Astec Oil fell 2 and Equity slipped 4.

Baird Atomic fell 2½ following a report of a drop in earnings for the fiscal year. Anheuser-Busch, after several weeks of decline, scored a technical recovery with a 3-point advance.

Other sound advances were registered by Memorex, up 9; Alphamercial, up 4; Alpine Geophysical up 4; Buckeye Steel, up 4½, Central Trans-former, up 4, and Prudential Real Estate up 4.

On the downside, Colorado Milling fell 4; Rucker, 12, and Smith Industries and Virginia Chemical 3½ each. Bank stocks rallied on increased activity. Most issues gained more than a point. First National City gained 2½ and Morgan Guaranty advanced 3¼. Insurance stocks, on the other hand, hit two-year lows in a market that was described as "dead" by one dealer. Another trader commented, "There is no way to go but up, but it doesn't look like anyone is interested in going up."

Actua Life dropped 1¼, Connecticut General fell 4 and Lincoln National Life was off 2¼. On the Amex, the majority of issues were slightly lower despite a rally during the latter part of the week. Volume advanced to 22,241,830 shares, from 17,733,335 shares in the preceding week. The week's most active list contained five advances and five declines. The most active issue was Dynalene, which fell 7½, to 22½, on volume of 1,641,700 shares. The company which has a process for removing pollutants from fuel oil, said it knew of no immediate reason for the trading activity.

Millions of pounds of chicory root, domestic and imported, are roasted as a coffee substitute.

Kingfishers dig nesting burrows in banks along streams. The young will be reared on a pad of fish bones and scales.

Never Praise For Food Minister

PATNA, India (AP)—Bihar State Food Minister K.D. Singh says housewives curse him all day long. Singh says that in his unenviable position a housewife starts the day cursing him for the coal shortage when she tries to light the morning fire because of the shortage of sugar for tea; and she is not in an "endearing mood" when she thinks of high price of kerosene for lanterns at night.

IF YOU LIVE IN AN ALL-ELECTRIC HOME, KEEP PLUGGING.

HELP IS ON THE WAY.

Sure, we know how tough it's been. You pinch here and there all month to get a few bucks ahead. But you know better than to spend it because the electric bill hasn't arrived yet, right?

So by the time you've finished paying three times as much for electric heat as you'd pay for Gas, twice as much to cook with kilowatts, five times as much to dry a load of clothes, three times as much to heat a tank of water and so on, you're back where you started.

You wondered why that little medallion they stuck on your all electric home is gold? Now you know.

Chin up, though. Anyone can make a mistake. Get yourself out of that castle of kilowatts before it gets you. Find yourself an All Gas Home—it's all Gas—all savings. Gas not only does every job better, but lets you get some money ahead for the things you want. An All Gas Home can save you hundreds of dollars every year, thousands of dollars over the life of your mortgage. That's money enough for new furniture, or a car, or a college education, or... well, we're sure you have some pretty exciting ideas of your own. Just think of all the things you could do with the money you'd save in an All Gas Home!

THINK OF ALL THE THINGS YOU CAN DO WITH THE MONEY YOU SAVE GAS MAKES THE BIG DIFFERENCE

appropriate settings. Wall-to-wall carpeting and acoustical tile deaden sound. The indigo all-weather carpeting in the lobby has been extended into the elevators. The Shetland beige carpet on the main banking floor is impervious to moisture, does not show footprints.

Officials of the bank and the firm which laid the carpet are particularly proud of the steps leading to the trust and commercial departments. As Merle Mitcham puts it, "you get a waterfall effect."

The Pittsburgh firm laid 578 yards of carpeting in two short days, from Friday through Saturday evening.

The new check desks have been synchronized with the lighting—round lighting fixtures, round desk tops of white Italian marble. The slots in the marble tops are "waste baskets," eliminating unsightly receptacles underneath.

White Italian marble also divides the main banking floor from the trust and commercial departments and helps to block off the view of the walk-up window. There are plants throughout the bank; those on the marble dividers can be changed from season to season or real plants substituted for the artificial.

The all new tellers' counter is walnut as is furniture throughout the bank and the architectural panels. Openings in front of each teller enable the customer to conduct business at the same level with the teller in private while still seeing what the teller is doing; the old, high counters with the brass rails are a thing of the past. When a teller is off duty, an insert into this opening effectively tells a customer that he must seek a window elsewhere.

Each teller has his own safe. The counters were specially built. Leaf-Lite over the area where the tellers work provides a warm bronze overhead glow as the light filters through thousands of tiny squares.

Gold panels in front of the tellers' counter and royal blue vinyl panels above add a bright note to the muted decor. So do the blue, red and mustard colored chairs to be found in various areas.

Featured at the sit-down check desks are swivel chairs which enable the customer to move with comfort and which return to their original position when the customer gets up.

There is a feeling of spaciousness throughout the new interior which is now rectangular in appearance. The paneling, which effectively closes off from inside view the walk-up window, also hides from view the area where the Xerox, accounting machine, and special files are kept.

New draperies of Anton Marx fabrics add to the feeling of privacy when one enters the bank. This feeling has been intensified in the trust and commercial departments by the arrangement of working space, among other things. In addition, needed reference books, formerly scattered, are now neatly arranged on library shelves purchased from a local firm, the Crescent Furniture Co.

Other local firms also played a part in bringing about the Pennsylvania Bank and Trust Co.'s new look. Anundson of Sheffield was the general contractor. Bevevino did the electrical work. Wendelboe's did the painting and installed the vinyl panels.

Both Harrington and Mitcham have offices where confidential matters can be easily discussed and noise is reduced to a minimum, even beyond the quiet and relaxed atmosphere of the main banking floor.

Files between the two offices are the new pull-out type, which enable employees to file sideways rather than pulling out a drawer from the front which has long been considered awkward.

Furniture throughout is what is known as "directional furniture." It can be moved about easily when necessary and gives a floating appearance. The walnut desks on chrome bases have a feeling almost of weightlessness.

The board room, located at the tip of the building—in New York City a similarly shaped structure was long known as the Flat Iron Building—is perhaps the most unique feature of the remodeled bank. Here, where it was impossible to create the illusion of a rectangle in the "pie-shaped" building, is a custom-made wedge-shaped table created by Carlton Surrey of Chicago. It is both handsome and functional, Mitcham points out. A lowered ceiling and indirect lighting add to the beauty of this room where matters of importance can be discussed in an area conducive to serious thought.

The installation of automatic elevators has improved service to tenants of the building. Renovation of banking space has improved service to customers through improved, more convenient and expanded facilities as well as providing a functionally beautiful area in which to do business.

Yet outside, the building appears the same wedge-shaped structure Warren County people have recognized as a landmark for many years—almost. The exterior has been completely sand-blasted, cleaned and treated with silicone to seal the brick and completely pointed. Pointing in masonry refers to

Public Hearings

The State Sanitary Water board has adopted a priority listing to be used as a guide for holding public hearings to establish water criteria for interstate waters in Pennsylvania. Listed as Priority No. 6 is the Clarion-Tionesta area; all tributaries to the Allegheny from Clarion River to and including Brokenstraw Creek, except French Creek and west bank tributaries between Clarion. Also Priority No. 24, upper Allegheny basin; all tributaries between Clarion River from Brokenstraw to and including Genesee basin. Hearing held in Bradford.

State Police Tip

State police offer a sensible safe driving tip. "A lucky man is the drinking man who has lost the keys to his car."

The source of the St. Lawrence River is in the state of Minnesota. The St. Lawrence is viewed as a part of the Great Lakes waterway.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police was originally formed to patrol the vast Northwest.

'Three Flags' Decorate Entrance to Bank Offices

Customers entering the newly remodeled offices of The Pennsylvania Bank & Trust Company in Warren will now do so Under Three Flags. Thus the bank's building and Second avenue become more decorative and eye appealing.

As part of the bank's recent remodeling program a new canopy was constructed over the Second avenue entrance. To add to the beauty of the canopy bank officials were desirous of adding to it something which would be attention compelling. Being aware of Warren County's richness in the early history of America the decision was made to top off the canopy with three famous flags. The flags selected were the French Fleur-de-lis, the British Union Jack and the American Stars and Stripes.

All three flags will be of the vintage that once flew over northwestern Pennsylvania and Warren County. The Stars and Stripes will fly thirteen white stars on a blue field symbolic of the original thirteen colonies. Each flag will be five feet by eight feet in size and will be flown from individual poles reaching approximately fifteen feet above the canopy.

Bank officials feel the decorative addition to the bank will serve as a landmark in downtown Warren. At the same time the flags will help focus continued attention on the part Warren County has played in American history.

Homer's Split End World

NEW YORK—The Giants had advanced inside the Cardinal 20 at St. Louis a couple of years ago and Allie Sherman decided to call the scoring play himself. It was one that sent the Packers flowing to the right while Earl Morrall, the quarterback, rolled unprotected to the left. Because the defenders would be irresistibly drawn to the right, Morrall would be safe from harm if the lone enemy outside linebacker on the left could be erased.

Bob Crespi, the burly tight-end, normally handled the chore with crisp authority. But Crespi was sidelined with an injury and the Giant coach decided to risk using Homer Jones, the split-end, in the tight-end spot. But first he summoned Homer to the sidelines for explicit instructions.

"Homer," he said, "you must stay in tight and block out Bill Roman. He'll be looking down Morrall's tonsils and will break him in half if you don't knock him down."

"Okay, coach," said Homer joyously, patting back to the huddle with all of his small boy's cheerfulness and enthusiasm. The Giants broke out of the huddle and Allie gasped in horror. The force of habit Homer had split wide to the outside, leaving the menacing Roman unchallenged. Allie glanced over his shoulder and snapped a quick order to Gary Wood, the backup quarterback.

"Gary," said Allie, "start warming up. Earl is about to get killed."

There was no murder, though. The suspicious Roman reacted as an experienced linebacker should. No team extends wide open invitations because they usually are satanic traps for the unwary and the uninitiated. So he held his ground and did not charge Morrall. Thereupon the Giant quarterback threw a career touchdown pass to a receiver alone in the end zone. Natural. It was Homer. Who else?

The split-end world of Homer Jones is a practically uninhabited never-never land that contains at least one fantastic and slightly unbelievable pass catcher. If defenders can't figure out what he'll do next, they are in good company. Homer himself doesn't know. But whenever he does, he seems to do it right because he keeps gathering increasing recognition as the most exciting receiver in the business.

Thus far this year he has caught 31 passes and one out of every three has resulted in a touchdown. He has averaged 28 yards a catch and in less than three seasons has had at least a dozen long gains that have ranged from 70 to 98 yards. What makes him so tough to handle is that he combined the blinding speed of Bob Hayes and the brute strength of Mike Ditka.

"Homer is an interesting man to throw to," says Fran Tarkenton in the understatement of the century. "On man-to-man coverage he's pure murder."

Homer doesn't look especially big. But he is. He stands 6 feet 4 inches and weighs a hard-packed 226 pounds. His hands are so huge that he wraps them around a football as easily as Sandy Koufax once did with a baseball. He has the speed to get down field and the strength to wrest away the ball from defenders.

The Giants are lucky to have him. Homer was the fifth draft choice of the Houston Oilers when the two leagues were battling for talent. Although aware of the fact that he already was signed elsewhere, the New Yorkers still decided to use their 20th and last draft pick on him.

"You never can tell," said Wellington Mara, president of the team, authorizing the selection under the guidance of some sixth sense.

The Oilers never even gave Homer a uniform when preliminary examination disclosed a trick knee. So he phoned the Giants and they grabbed him. Immediate surgery by Dr. Tony Pisani made him sound again.

But then this blithe spirit often came close to being dropped from the team during two seasons as a taxi squad member. The Giants are now most thankful that Ken Kavanaugh, the end coach, fought off all attempts to give the ax to this free-wheeling operative who still is careless with his pass patterns.

Homer is matchless on his favorite pattern, though. This is "the fly," a straight downfield gallop toward the end zone. "No passer can outthrow me," says Homer, a grinning block of confidence. "I can outrun any pass under 70 yards and I've yet to meet a passer who can throw longer than that."

A prize catch is Homer Jones.

Browns Take Century Lead; Colts Roll On

KEEPING COLTS ON TOP

One of the main reasons why the Baltimore Colts are the only undefeated and untied team in pro football is quarterback Johnny Unitas, setting up to pass behind blockers Tony Lorick (33) and Sam Ball (73) in an earlier game this season.

Yesterday, Unitas' aerials and the running of Lorick and Tom Matte carried the Colts to their eighth straight 41-7 over Detroit. (See story at right)

COLLEGE FOOTBALL ROUNDUP:

Bowl Picture Clearer as Trojans Nip Bruins, Hoosiers Lose First

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A citrus fragrance pervades the college football picture as the jockeying for postseason bowl berths reaches the show-down stage.

In California, land of the Rose Bowl, the fragrance is Orange—specifically Orange Juice. It was the spectacular running of O.J. "Orange Juice" Simpson that sparked Southern California to a 21-20 victory over UCLA Saturday and a berth in the Rose Bowl.

Simpson rambled 64 yards for a fourth quarter touchdown that gave the Trojans their victory against the previously unbeaten

Bruins. The powerful running back also scored USC's first TD on a 13-yard run and gained 177 yards for the day.

His performance overshadowed a gallant show by UCLA's Gary Beban, who completed 16 of 24 passes for 301 yards and just one minute before Simpson's long TD run, had passed the Bruins into the lead.

While USC clinched its bowl date, the Trojans can't be sure who they will be facing. Minnesota scrambled the Big Ten picture by whacking previously unbeaten Indiana 33-7.

The victory tied Minnesota with Indiana at 5-1 in Big Ten play with the Hoosiers going up against third-ranked Purdue while Minnesota faces winless Wisconsin next week. Purdue, 6-0 in the conference, played in the Rose Bowl last Jan. 1 and is ineligible to return.

Curt Wilson led Minnesota's romp, racing for four touchdowns and passing for another. All of his TDs came from close in, as Minnesota turned two Indiana fumbles into scores.

Tennessee virtually wrapped up the Southeastern crown and an Orange Bowl bid by whipping Mississippi 20-7. The Volunteers have only lowly Vanderbilt and Kentucky standing in the way of their first conference title since 1956.

Tailback Walt Chadwick passed for one touchdown and ran for another as Tennessee pushed its record to 7-1. Fumble recoveries by Dick Williams set up two of the Volunteer scores.

Tennessee's likely opponent in the Orange Bowl is Oklahoma, 7-1, which clinched a Big Eight title tie with a 14-10 victory over Kansas. The Sooners fell behind 10-0 before rallying in the second half. When Steve Zabel caught a 30-yard pass from Bob Warmack giving the Sooners the lead in the fourth period, or Alabamians, 7-1-1, may have nailed down a Cotton Bowl bid by blanking South Carolina 17-0. Kenny Stabler and Dennis Hoeman combined for a 38-yard scoring play—the first touchdown pass completed against South Carolina this season.

Any one of four teams still alive in the Southwest Conference, could be the Cotton Bowl hosts. Texas A&M leads the conference with a 5-1 record after knocking off Rice 18-3 while Texas, 4-2, was losing to TCU 24-17 on a last-minute touchdown by Ken Post.

The Aggies can win the crown outright by beating Texas on Thanksgiving Day but there's a chance of a four-way tie with Texas Tech, 4-2 and TCU, 3-2, still alive. Tech beat Baylor 31-29 on Kenny Vineyard's 37-yard field goal in the final minute of play.

Colorado, 7-2, remained a Sugar Bowl possibility by walling off Kansas State 40-6 as Bob Anderson ran for two touchdowns and passed for a third.

Louisiana State, still hoping to attract a Sugar Bowl bid despite a 5-3-1 record, smashed Mississippi State 35-0 as Tommy Morris caught three touchdown passes. Penn State, 7-2, and 35-14 winner over Ohio, is also a Sugar possibility.

Florida's 25-12 victory over Kentucky kept the Gators alive in their quest for a bowl date. A Gator Bowl invitation could come down to next Saturday's game between Florida 6-2 and Florida State, 6-2-1.

Syracuse, 7-2 and hopeful, dropped Boston College 32-20. Other Gator possibilities are Missouri, 7-2, which beat Nebraska 16-7, and Wyoming, 10-0, which edged Texas-El Paso 21-19.

Yale clinched its first Ivy League title in seven years by whipping Princeton 29-7 as Brian Dowling passed for two touchdowns and scored a pair.

Notre Dame ripped Georgia Tech 36-3 with Bob Blier and Bob Gladioux each scoring two TDs.

Army Comeback Just 'Too Much' for Hart

By IRA MILLER

Associated Press Sports Writer PITTSBURGH (AP)—Pitt's football team is three plays away from four victories, and it's getting to be too much—even for coach Dave Hart.

"I can't stand this... It's too much," Hart said after Saturday's 21-12 loss to Army. "I've got to go away someplace."

Like they did against Navy and Syracuse, the Panthers nursed a slim lead into the fourth quarter, only to see it evaporate on one play.

That was a 22-yard pass from quarterback Steve Lindell to Lynn Moore, a reserve halfback which brought the ball to the Pitt one-yard line. It came on a fourth-and-15 situation.

Two plays later, with 6:56 to go, Moore scored the winning touchdown. Lindell added another with 90 seconds left, but that did not increase the margin.

"At half time, I was sure we had it," Hart said. "These last few games... and this week-end... has just been too much."

On Friday night Hart's prized freshman team dropped its third straight game when Notre Dame threw a touchdown pass with 35 seconds to go.

Pitt, a two-touchdown underdog, seemed headed for an upset against the Cadets. The Panthers outplayed Army by a wide margin in the first half and led 12-7 but were stopped three times deep in Army territory twice inside the three-yard line.

"I'm sure our boys were all right," Hart said. "But we just didn't have the right play."

He was disappointed over the bowl thing, but I was proud of the way they came back," said Tom Cahill of Army, 6-1. "We didn't make any adjustments in the second half. We just tried to rush the passer more and blitzed a few times. Pitt was a good football team. I'm amazed that they've lost eight games."

The victory was the first ever for an Army team in Pittsburgh and came just two plays after the Cadets were told they would not be allowed to accept a post-season bowl bid.

Bob Bazyak, returning after a three-year layoff forced by an ankle injury, tied a Pitt record Saturday by throwing 46 passes. He completed 2 for 249 yards, but four were intercepted.

Bob Longo caught nine for 112 yards and both Pitt touchdowns, and George Medich grabbed eight for 109 yards. The Panthers finish their season Saturday at Penn State, 7-2.

Two Giants Out Rest of Season

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants lost fullback Tucker Frederickson and defensive tackle Jim Moran for the rest of the season yesterday when they suffered injuries against the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Frederickson tore ligaments in his right knee early in the second quarter and was to be operated on last night. The young fullback missed all last season after tearing ligaments in his left knee.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cleveland Browns took over first place in the National Football League's Century Division yesterday while Baltimore stayed unbeaten and just ahead of Los Angeles in the Coastal Division.

Cleveland, 6-4, nipped Minnesota, 25-2, 14-10 when Leroy Kelly leaped into the end zone from less than a foot out.

Baltimore breezed to a 41-7 victory over Detroit as Tom Matte ran for two touchdowns, keeping the Colts a game ahead of Los Angeles, 6-1-2, which beat Atlanta 31-3 with a 24-point fourth quarter.

Roman Gabriel threw two TD passes for Los Angeles and Bruce Gossett kicked three field goals.

In a big American Football League game, the defending champion Kansas City Chiefs suffered a severe blow to their hopes of repeating by losing 17-16 to San Diego. The victory kept San Diego, 7-1-1, second to Oakland, 8-1-1 and a 31-17 victory over Miami, in the Western Division. The third-place Chiefs are 6-4.

A two-yard TD pass from John Hadl to Lance Alworth and Dick Van Raaphorst's conversion won it for San Diego. The Chiefs missed a chance for victory when Jan Stenerud, who kicked three field goals, failed from 24 yards with 19 seconds left.

St. Louis, 5-4-1, fell behind Cleveland by losing 31-3 to the Chicago Bears, 5-5 and runner-up to Green Bay in Central Division, the other Western Conference division in the NFL.

Jack Concannon led the Bears with TD passes of 93 and 67 yards to Dick Gordon and 51 yards to Bob Jones.

The New York Giants, 5-5, stayed in contention in the Century Division by knocking Pittsburgh 28-20 as rookie Randy Minniear caught a six-yard TD pass and ran one yard for another score. The Steelers now are 2-7-1.

Green Bay riddled by injuries to their offensive backfield, still managed to gain its seventh victory against two losses and a tie by sending San Francisco, 5-5, to its fourth straight defeat, 13-0.

Donnie Anderson scored on a one-yard plunge and Don Chandler kicked two field goals for the Packers, who played most of the game with Zeke Bratkowski at quarterback after Bart Starr was injured.

Dallas, 7-3, stayed on top of the Eastern Conference's other division, the Capitol, despite losing to Washington 27-20.

Sonny Jurgensen brought his TD passes for the season to 21 by firing four as the Redskins built up a 27-6 lead enroute to their fourth victory against four losses and two ties.

Philadelphia, 5-5, stayed in second place behind Dallas by drubbing New Orleans, 48-21 as Norm Snead completed 19 of 27 passes for 309 yards and four touchdowns.

In other AFL action: The New York Jets, the Eastern Division leader with a 7-2-1 mark, built up a 29-3 lead and then fought off a fourth-quarter Boston rally for a 29-24 victory. Joe Namath threw for two New York touchdowns, and Don Trull tossed a pair for Boston.

Denver gained only its second victory against nine losses by upsetting Buffalo, 3-7, 21-20. Steve Tensi passed to Al Denison for two touchdowns. The second one combined with Buddy Humphrey's third placement clinched the victory.

Daryle Lamonica threw three TD passes to Billy Cannon in Oakland's victory.

Flyers Edge Blues, Hold Western Lead

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Flyers scored three goals in the first period and staved off a St. Louis rally to beat the Blues 3-2 in a National Hockey League game last night.

The game ended with a melee on the ice after St. Louis defenseman Gordon Kasseleser pounced on the Flyers' Ed Van Impe at the final buzzer. Philadelphia's Pat Hannigan attacked Kasseleser and soon players of both sides were wrestling and punching.

As a result of the battle, Philadelphia's Larry Zeidel and St. Louis' Noel Picard were given major and game misconduct penalties.

Philadelphia scored all three goals against goalie Glenn Hall in the first period. Don Blackburn converted a pass from Leon Rochefort at 9:35, giving the Flyers the initial goal for the 11th time in 16 games.

John Miszuk's pass set Lou Angotti for the second goal at 11:44 and Van Impe caged a 45-foot screen shot at 16:11.

Mohns Gives Hawks Tie With Wings

CHICAGO (AP) — Doug Mohns' goal with five seconds to play, pulled the Chicago Black Hawks into a 2-2 tie with the Detroit Red Wings in a wild National Hockey League game last night.

The Red Wings had moved to a 2-1 lead on third period goals by Bruce Henderson and Bert Crasby.

Chicago goalie Denis DeJordy was off the ice in favor of a sixth skater when Mohns' stationed near the left corner of the Detroit cage, took a pass from Ken Wharram and slashed the puck behind Wings' goalie, Roy Edwards.

The deadlock extended the Hawks' unbeaten string to nine games of which they have won five and tied four.

Detroit moved into sole possession of first place in the East Division by a point over Toronto and Boston.

The Black Hawks moved into a 1-0 lead early in the second period on a goal by rookie Wayne Maki.

Bear Legal Game Today

HARRISBURG (AP) — The elusive bear becomes a legal target for Pennsylvania hunters today.

The State Game Commission predicts there'll be plenty of brain around, citing field observations, excellent food and cover conditions.

Bear hunters will be watching the weather reports.

Good weather conditions include a tracking snow, which improves visibility and increases a bear hunter's chances.

The season opens one-half hour before sunrise today and closes at sunset Saturday.

A hunter may legally kill one bear during the season. Hunting parties of five or more may take up to three bears. Cub bears cannot be legally shot in Pennsylvania, the commission cautioned.

The commission also reminded hunters they must tag their kills before the carcass is moved from the spot where it fell, or within one hour after the bear is killed, regardless of whether the carcass is moved.

Kills must be reported to the commission within five days after the season ends.

Last year, hunters took 605 bears during the season, one of the highest harvests on record.

1967-68 EDINBORO CAMPUS TEAM

HOST BRADFORD-PITT CAMPUS

Warren Off-Campus Five Opening Season Tonight

Warren's Edinboro Campus opens its 1967-68 basketball season tonight by hosting the Bradford-Pitt Campus team in the Warren Area High School gym. Tip-off time is 8 p.m.

The local EOC cagers are coached again this season by Andy Randas and Ron Firestone, who guided the team to a 7-7 season last year, including an 82-77 upset of highly-favored Jamestown Community College in the final game.

With three of last year's starters returning, Paul Johnston, Eric Jones and Leo Schlanger, the coaches and EOC fans are looking for an improved record this season.

Johnston (6'4"), a former all-around athlete at Warren Area High School, leads the returnees from last year's squad. He is the all-time high scorer at the two-year institution. His records include: Most points per season - 348; highest average per game - 24.1; single game high - 48; most season rebounds - 210; most single game rebounds - 23; most fouls made in season - 52; best rebound average - 15 and highest shooting percentage per season - 43 percent.

Johnston can be called on to play inside or outside. He has speed, height, a good shooting touch, agility and gives 100 percent.

Another outstanding returnee is Eric Jones (5'9"), a former Meadville High star. Jones is the floor leader and playmaker. His 13-point average last season added greatly to the team's offense, as did his outside shooting ability, fine passing and team play. Jones is also an excellent rebounder despite his lack of height and a top defensive player, often being called on to guard the outstanding individual opponent.

Schlanger (6'2"), the third starter, is from Pittsburgh and plays the opposite post position from Johnston. He is a fine rebounder who will many times pass up a shot to pass off to a teammate in better position. Schlanger averaged 11 rebounds and six points per game last season.

The fourth starter will be ex-Youngsville High athlete Fred Huffman (5'6"), who saw limited action last year's team. Huffman is a hustler, a ball-hawk on defense and also possesses a good shooting touch.

Dave Bucka (5'10"), of Ambridge will also be in the starting lineup. Bucka has good speed, shooting ability and rebounds well. He is described by Coach Randas as an exciting type of ballplayer who will add much to the team's offense.

The team's sixth man, who will see as much action as the starters, is Jim Anundson (6'1") of Sheffield. Anundson is a good rebounder, very aggressive on defense and can play inside or out.

Others on the squad are Bruce Atwood of Sheffield; Bruce Fruhwald, Braddock; Mike Adamosky, New Kensington; Harry Broadus, Braddock; Jeff Washburn, Sheffield; Jim Dahler, Warren and Karl Rabat from Trehem, Iran.

EOC is slated to play 12 games this season. After tonight's contest, the locals are next in action against Erie Business College on Saturday, December 2 at the WAHS gym. Starting time for all home games is 8 p.m.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Two top officials of the Orange Bowl were here yesterday, ready to sign Tennessee to meet Oklahoma in the Miami, Fla., football classic New Year's night.

Under NCAA regulations, the official signing cannot take place until 12 noon, EST, today.

But Jack Baldwin, chairman of the Orange Bowl Team Selection Committee, and William Lantaff, Orange Bowl president, made no secret of the fact that second-ranked Tennessee and seventh-ranked Oklahoma were their choices.

Each has a 7-1 record.

Scotch Play Final Today

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — The fourth and final round of the $155,000 Haig Scotch Golf Championship has been postponed until today because of heavy rain.

Bob Tuthill, PGA tournament supervisor, said yesterday that rain overnight made the course unplayable after some of the players had gone several holes. The teams of Richard Martinez-Bob Lunn and Lee Trevino-Howie Johnson are tied for the lead with 203-13 under par — after three rounds over the 6,881-yard Las Costa Country Club course.

Mario Cops Memorial Race Again

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Two-time National Auto Champion Mario Andretti pushed his rear-engine Ford into the lead on the 180th lap and went on to win yesterday's 200-mile U.S. Auto Club Bobby Ball Memorial Race at Phoenix International Raceway.

The 27-year-old Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., won his second straight Bobby Ball race when he snatched the lead from Bob Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., after Unser came off a turn high. Andretti held the lead from there on.

The 33-year-old Unser, who set a track record in qualifying, gave way to his younger brother Al Unser on the 192nd lap and Al wound up in second place, about 100 yards behind Andretti. The expected duel between Andretti and A. J. Foyt, national USAC point leader, failed to materialize when Foyt was forced out on the 98th lap after spinning into the wall.

Gordon Johncock of Hastings, Mich., placed fourth and Lloyd Ruby of Wichita Falls, Tex. fifth in final standings.

Andretti, who won $13,218, also posted a 200-mile record for a one-mile paved track with an average of 109.569 miles per hour. The previous mark of 107.735 was set at the same track in 1964 by Ruby.

Next in order were: 6, Bud Tingstad, Dayton, Ohio; 7, Mel Kenyon, Davenport, Iowa; 8, Bob Hurt, Potomac, Md.; 9, Ronnie Duman, Speedway, Ind.; and 10, Arnie Knepper, Belleville, Ill.

Sunday Nite Mixed League—Katy Bemis 171-440, Mona Wiles 165-430, Ginny Nelson 147-429, Ardelle Shanley 154-414, Herman Knight 245-592, Roger Hannah 198-542, Grant George 179-534, Fred Cross 187-533. Team standings—Hewer-Wald 4-0, Knight-Shanley 3-1, Hannah-Nelson 3-1, Kaputa-Schwab 3-1, Mealy-Kunselman 3-1, Lindell-Cross 1-3, Bemis-Kostas 1-3, Allan-Campbell 1-3, George-Jenkins 1-3, Wiles-Head 0-4.

Tennessee whip Mississippi 20-7 in Memphis Saturday and flew here with the Tennessee party to await today's signing of the Volunteers.

"We think Tennessee and Oklahoma will make a fine pair of bowl teams," Baldwin said. "We followed Tennessee all season, and we think it is the most exciting team in the country."

This will be the second pairing of Tennessee and Oklahoma in the Miami classic. The Vols and Sooners met there in the 1939 game, with Tennessee winning 17-0.

George Cafego, now an assistant on Tennessee Coach Doug Dickey's staff, was a standout tailback on the Vol team which beat Oklahoma.

In its march to Miami, Oklahoma defeated Washington State 21-0; Maryland 35-0; lost to Texas 9-7; licked Kansas State 46-7; Missouri 7-0; Colorado 23-0; Iowa State 52-14 and Kansas 14-10.

The Sooners, leader of the Big Eight Conference with a 5-0 record, have games left with Nebraska and Oklahoma State.

Tennessee opened its season with a 20-16 loss to UCLA and then came successive victories over Auburn, 27-13; Georgia Tech 24-13; Alabama 24-13; Louisiana State 17-14; Tampa 35-0; Tulane 35-14 and Mississippi 20-7.

The Vols lead the Southeastern Conference with a 4-0 mark and have games remaining with Kentucky and Vanderbilt.

This will be Tennessee's third bowl trip in as many years. The Vols trounced Tulsa 27-6 in the 1965 Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston and trimmed Syracuse 18-12 in last year's Gator Bowl.

Dickey became the Tennessee head coach in 1964 and posted a 4-5-1 record that year. His overall record, including two bowl victories, is 27-10-3.

In Norman, Oklahoma Coach Chuck Fairbanks said he had informed his squad he would probably contact them today to poll their wishes on a bowl game.

Oklahoma's last bowl appearance came in the 1965 Gator Bowl when it lost to Florida State 36-19. The Sooners lost the 1963 Orange Bowl to Alabama 17-0.

LSU, Wyoming For Sugar Bowl

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The Sugar Bowl will officially invite Louisiana State and Wyoming to play in the New Year's Day football classic here, it was learned last night. The invitations will be extended today.

It will mark the eighth trip to the Sugar Bowl for LSU, giving the Tigers more appearances in the Jan. 1 game than any other football team.

Two Mishaps Reported

Frank G. Reese, 22, 513 W. Fifth st., escaped injury when his car was totaled in a one-car accident on snow-covered Rt. 62, Limestone Twp., 5 miles north of Tidioute, Saturday night.

One other mishap on Warren streets caused minor damage to a pair of local vehicles.

According to state police reports, Reese was traveling north on 62 when his car swerved ed onto the east berm, struck a township marker, hit the embankment and rolled over. It occurred at 7:32 p.m.

Borough police yesterday received a report from one of two motorists involved in a collision on Buchanan st. at 4:35 p.m.

Police, who did not investigate at the scene, were told by Betty Jean Christie, 41, 270 Buchanan st., that her vehicle had been sideswiped by Tom Dunham, 107 1/2 No. Carver st. According to the police, she said she was traveling at a slow rate of speed when the collision happened. She reportedly also said that there were cars blocking traffic on both sides of the street.

State Nonpublic School Aid Still Big Issue in Tax Talks

By PAUL ZDINAK

HARRISBURG (AP) — Rep. Martin P. Mullen, regarded as the most powerful legislator in support of state aid to nonpublic schools, contends the issue should very much be a part of the tax negotiations.

"No, I will not give up," the Philadelphia Democrat said over the weekend. "We do not want the issue separated."

Mullen's comments were in response to reliable reports that ranking legislators in both parties are convinced the nonpublic school aid question will have to be isolated if a tax compromise is to be resolved by Nov. 30.

While the big five reportedly are on the verge of an agreement, no final decisions had been made and the discussions "still could break down at any minute," it was emphasized, by both sides.

Democrats reportedly have whittled the Administration's tax demand, publicly at $172 million, down by $20 million after all changes are added up.

In return, it appeared that the Democrats were prepared to offer votes for an extension of the 5 per cent sales tax to clothing as the prime revenue collector in a new package. Such a tax was estimated at $50 million for the remainder of the current fiscal year.

trade-in values on cars and equipment, $18 million.

Democrats reportedly would like to close the sales tax manufacturers' exemption, but the Republicans, it was said, have shown no inclination to do so.

Both the House and Senate plan three-day meetings this week, breaking Wednesday for Thanksgiving. A full work week is contemplated for the week of Nov. 27 in a final rush to clear as much administration legislation as possible.

United Arab Republic And Britain Restore Ties

Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Britain and Egypt announced yesterday the restoration of diplomatic ties, after a 23-month break.

Sir Harold Beeley was reported chosen as new British ambassador in Cairo.

A Foreign Office statement said Britain's relations with President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic (UAR) would be resumed "in the first half of December."

sumption of relations is expected.

Beeley, who has served before as ambassador in Cairo, has a pro-Arab reputation in most Middle East capitals. He is known to have Nasser's confidence.

This, in the view of Foreign Secretary George Brown, could be highly useful at a time when Britain is taking the lead at the United Nations in trying to break a deadlock over launching Arab-Israeli peace missions.

Democrats also reportedly were pressing for a commitment from the administration that any surplus it might achieve as a result of the higher taxes would be used for increased school subsidies.

There reportedly is general unanimity on a $25 million jump in the capital stock tax and $16.8 million in utility gross receipts.

A proposed increase from 15 to 18 per cent in the liquor tax, valued at only $5 million, reportedly still is a controversial item as is a triple boost in the 2 per cent inheritance tax, $15 million.

Strike Against ABC Appears Over

(c) N.Y. Times News Service

WASHINGTON — Tentative settlement of the two-month strike of technicians against the American Broadcasting Company was announced last night by the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Terms of the agreement to end the nationwide walkout by some 1,500 members of the National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians, which began Sept. 22, were withheld by the parties, according to the announcement.

Sudan was among Arab states which broke ties with Britain because of the Arab-Israeli war last June. Here also early re-

Wake Up Your PERISTALSIS And Be Your SMILING BEST

Peristalsis is the muscular action of your digestive system. When peristaltic action slows down, waste materials can build up in the lower tract. You can become irregular, uncomfortable, stuffed.

The unique laxative formula of today's Carter's Pills gives effective, temporary relief of the irregularity by activating the slowed-down muscles of the lower tract and stimulating peristalsis.

So if you're sluggish due to irregularity, take Carter's Pills to wake up your peristalsis and you'll bounce back to your smiling best.

Millions of satisfied users take Carter's Pills for effective temporary relief of irregularity. Why don't you, too?

Monkey Business

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — The standard charge brought for a false fire alarm is gross misconduct and the fine amounts to $125, but the penalty was waived this time after three fire engines screamed to Munich's Bayern Hall where a late ice show was going on. Police found the buttons had been pushed by Jackie, a 5-year-old skating chimpanzee.

FACIAL BLOTCHES AND THE PILL

Q. I have been taking "the pill" for about two years and have developed brownish blotches on my face and neck. If I stop the pill will the blotches go away?

A. Blotchy discoloration similar to that which you describe may occur during pregnancy, and tends to persist. So, apparently, do blotches arising during oral contraceptive administration, even after stopping "the pill". Discuss the condition with your doctor.

COPPER COOKING UTENSILS

Q. Is it safe to cook food in copper utensils?

A. Copper cooking vessels are safe to use in that they do not impart harmful quantities of copper to food. However, copper reacts with certain food elements and for this reason copper vessels are seldom used in the preparation of food. For example, vitamin C is rapidly destroyed if foods containing this vitamin are heated in contact with copper.

Forces Exchange Fire Across Jordan River

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Israeli and Jordanian forces exchanged fire for about 30 minutes across the Jordan River yesterday. It was the second breach of the cease-fire in the area during the weekend and the fourth so far this month. Neither side reported any casualties, and each blamed the other for starting the shooting. An Israeli army spokesman said the Jordanians opened fire with machine guns and other automatic weapons on an Israeli patrol which had detected a mine in a road near the Um Shurat Bridge on the west bank of the river. In Amman, a Jordanian military spokesman said the Israelis had fired cannons at Jordanian observation posts near the bridge. Israeli troops occupied Jordanian territory up to the west bank of the Jordan in the Arab-Israeli war June 5-10. In Tel Aviv, Labor Minister Yigal Allon, urging Israeli settlers to move into occupied territories, denied at a youth rally that the government was willing to make a partial withdrawal in an attempt to bring the Arabs into negotiations. This was seen as an official reply to Foreign Minister Abba Eban's reported statement that Israel would consider pullbacks if the Arabs would negotiate. Allon said Israel would stay put until permanent and safe frontiers were set up.

Project FIND Workers Open Clothing Center for Needy

A used clothing center, manned by elderly volunteers of Project FIND, will be open each Wednesday afternoon from 1 o'clock to 3:30 in the basement of St. Clara's Catholic Church in Clarendon starting this week. The center has been established through the efforts of workers on the various projects of the Warren and Forest Counties Economic Opportunity Council, Inc. Several needy persons and families have already benefitted from the available clothing this past several weeks. They were served by neighborhood organizers and community aides of the anti-poverty program. Now that Project FIND volunteers have been located, the center can be opened on a scheduled basis. Clothing at the center is available to all low-income persons in the two counties. Project FIND officials hope that more volunteers can be found to open similar centers in Warren Borough and at some location in Forest County.

Soldier Gets His 'Santa' Suit

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP)—A young Bowling Green soldier who wanted a Santa Claus suit to stage a Christmas party for 150 Korean orphans can start practicing his "ho, ho, ho." Warren County Unit, No. 23 of the American Legion Auxiliary says it has found a suit and is sending it on to Army Spec. 4 Dennis J. Compton. The auxiliary learned of Compton's wish to have a party for the children at An Hoong orphanage in Tongduchon when his wife, Juanita, made public a letter from her husband asking her to look around for a Santa suit. Compton, in Korea since January, 1967, already has behind him a trick or treat party he helped hold for the orphans at Halloween. "It gave me the chance to explain one of our customs to the kids here," he wrote to his wife. Activity Check

Mrs. W.E. Rice Elected To Mental Health Board

At its November meeting this week the recently incorporated Mental Health Association of Warren County elected Mrs. William E. Rice as a member of its board. Other members of the board are S. Knox Harper, Dr. T. K. Barratt, Thane Sando, Donald Blair, William Dyke, Mrs. Walter Berger, Mrs. Robert Jones, Nelson

Johnson, Andrew Yurick, Bert Levinson, David Smith, George Templeton, William Karns, Rev. Richard Baker, Richard Rapp and Mrs. Michael Mead. The Association, a voluntary citizen's group, has as its goal the improvement of Warren County facilities for prevention and treatment of mental disorders. The organization had several members in attendance as observers at the last meeting of the regional Mental Health-Mental Retardation Board and will promote community support of that board's plans for out-patient, clinics, local in-patient hospital care, and emergency service in situations involving psychiatric problems. William Dyke, chairman of the membership committee, explains that membership in the Mental Health Association is open to all citizens of Warren County. Board meetings of the organization are held beginning at 8:00 p.m. on the second Tuesday of each month. The next meeting will be on December 12 and will be open to the public. Information about membership or about the Association's program may be secured from any of the Board members.

3 Die When Ventilator Spreads Fumes in Hotel

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Deadly carbon monoxide fumes, spreading through the ventilating system of a large hotel-motel in nearby Boston Heights killed three persons early yesterday morning and sent more than 60 others to hospitals. Police and firemen battled against time to aroise the unsuspecting guests.

Capt. Gus Trejbal of the Summit County Sheriff's office said fumes from a defective heater for the swimming pool of the Yankee Clipper Inn were carried throughout the 210-room structure by the ventilating system.

"People were sick everywhere," said Walter Odom, Boston Heights policeman. "We would get some to come to the door, tell them what was wrong and they'd go back to bed. . . . We were finding them unconscious everywhere," he said.

Odom, who arrived at the inn just before midnight Saturday, was the first policeman on the scene.

Thirty-two ambulances sped those stricken to six hospitals in the area. Six remained hospitalized; the others were treated and released.

About 200 persons were evacuated from the inn, located off Ohio 8 near the Ohio Turnpike interchange. The dead were identified by the county coroner's office as Miss Mary Bishop, 56, a nurse, and her sister, Betty, 50, a dance instructor, both of Elyria, Ohio; and Bruce Plagman, 22 of Cleveland. They were found in their rooms.

Personal Income Gain Smaller

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department reported yesterday the October gain in personal income was the smallest in six months, continuing an economic slowdown stemming largely from strikes.

A softening in wages and salaries attributable partly to labor disputes was blamed by the department for much of the slower rise in incomes.

Personal income, it said rose by $1.6 billion to an annual rate of $636 billion. This was the second smallest monthly increase this year. Only the $900 million advance during April was smaller.

It virtually rounded out a strike-induced slack picture of economic activity during the month. Government economists contend the labor disputes have masked the true strength of the economy.

Workers at the Ford Motor Co. are already back at their jobs but the October figures reflect a full month of idleness at the company's plants.

Despite the apparent slack in some phases of the economy, Secretary of the Treasury Henry R. Fowler said last week the country already is suffering from inflation and conditions will get worse without higher taxes.

Eisenhower Plan Proves Successful in Warren County School

(Special to the TMO)
It has been emphasized in previous articles to stand still is to be lost. Paradoxically to experiment without direction and foundation too often has the same result. Perhaps the most outstanding educational innovation practice in North-western Pennsylvania is in the Warren County School District and more specifically at the Eisenhower High School. This innovative plan is more commonly known as the "Eisenhower Plan."

The Eisenhower Plan is the outgrowth of the thinking of the former supervising principal of the Northern Area School System, Harold Landin, presently director of secondary education for the Warren County School District.

Five years ago as a result of graduate course work at the University of Buffalo Landin reviewed experimental plans similar to the present Eisenhower Plan. Through continued investigation and evaluation of these ideas, the more merit they seemed to possess. Through conversations with his high school principal, Fred Bauer, they followed the progress of these plans and their evaluations at the end of the

JOHN M. NEESE
Assistant High School Principal

experimental period. The results were excellent. Plans were discussed based upon the possibility of adapting a similar plan designed to fit the needs of the students at the Eisenhower High School. Faculty members were introduced to, and became interested in, the idea and thus the Eisenhower Plan had its conception.

The purpose of the Eisenhower Plan is to make instruction more meaningful to the students through the use of flexible time periods in scheduling, team teaching, learning groups of various sizes, independent study and provisions of learning centers in which study materials are placed for use by students. It is based upon the belief of the school staff that such a program can more fully meet the educational needs of today's students, than can the more traditional secondary school programs.

Concepts and techniques are utilized in the Eisenhower Plan that are relatively new in the field of education. While they are relatively new, it has been established they are effective and reliable as a result of experimentation and research throughout the United States. To better explain the total program involved in the Eisenhower Plan these basic concepts or techniques will be explained as separate entities.

Modular Scheduling: This is sometimes referred to as flexible scheduling as flexibility is the key of modular scheduling. A module is a period of time. In the Eisenhower Plan a modular is twenty-five minutes in length. Classes are scheduled to meet for at least one module, or, depending upon the nature of the course, a class may be several modules in length. Also, schedules are so constructed that a class in a particular course might meet for three modules on one day and perhaps not at all on the following day. This is in contrast to the traditional box type schedule which is based upon the belief that every teacher and student is the same which permits little more than gestures in recognizing individual differences among students and teachers.

Modular scheduling provides for better utilization of the newer ideas in education, such as: educational television, multiple textbook teaching, small and large group instruction, independent study and team teaching. New methods, new media and new staffing patterns can no longer be accommodated by archaic organizational structures. In the Eisenhower Plan the schedule is designed to serve the educational needs of students and the operational needs of the teachers and not to dominate their behavior.

Team Teaching: By definition, team teaching is an arrangement whereby teachers in a particular subject area cooperatively plan, instruct and evaluate a particular group in an appropriate instructional space and given length of time, so as to take full advantage of the special competencies of the team members. A teaching team consists of two or more professional staff members.

It may be augmented by para-professional employees who are sometimes referred to as teacher aides. Through the use of this organizational plan teachers can collectively plan the most appropriate approach to best utilize available facilities, equipment, and individual talents for a particular group of students in a given subject area. The team teaching procedure provides and paves the way for small group instruction, large group instruction and independent study organizational patterns.

Large Group Instruction: The purpose of this phase of the Eisenhower Plan is to eliminate the needless repetition of instruction. Large groups are scheduled at appropriate times to provide for the introduction of material, evaluation procedures and lay the foundation for small group instruction and independent study. To provide for this type of instruction physical areas must be provided to accommodate a large number of students at the same time with the availability of appropriate audio-visual equipment.

Large group instruction eliminates the introduction of materials and other necessary communication numerous times to a like number of small groups and provides for this to be accomplished at one time to a large number of students. If it is appropriate to utilize a firm for instructional purposes it is shown once to 120 students rather than four times to thirty students at various times.

The staff at Eisenhower High School is fully aware that the instructor of large groups must possess distinct ability. The instructor best qualified to instruct a particular unit is the one that is utilized. To be effective it is essential that the instructor present his material in a dynamic meaningful manner. In order to do this, he must be well prepared and highly enthusiastic in his approach.

Small Group Instruction: The purpose of small group instruction is primarily to cultivate a deeper interest in the subject material than can be gained from a more direct lecture session, by inviting the mind to inquire and the individual to speak. In small groups the student is afforded the opportunity to investigate further the material presented in large group instruction and to clarify discrepancies which occur in the comprehension of subject material.

In this situation the student is given the opportunity to present and evaluate his own ideas on a subject and to take part in an active but supervised discussion of the various aspects of interpretation. In so doing, communication skills will be developed along with social and intellectual relationships with other students.

Those students who have difficulty in any of the above mentioned levels of learning, communicating, and socialization are given the opportunity to overcome these weaknesses.

Independent Study: Independent study is a means of providing a learning situation which allows a student to develop personal competencies through experience as an individual. Opportunities to study, explore and work apart from others in developing special interest in operational during the third year (1968-69), or as soon as the present building program is completed.

To fully equate the Eisenhower Plan and to prevent it from becoming stagnant and obsolete, a continuous plan of evaluation has been adopted. The Eisenhower Plan will be updated as a result of this continuous evaluation. This evaluation has been, and will continue to be, based upon one major criterion. That is, is this a sound educational program for the Eisenhower High School student?

The community which Eisenhower High School serves has been made aware of the objectives of the Eisenhower Plan and afforded the opportunity to participate in its evaluation. The Eisenhower High School Parents' Council has served as liaison for the dissemination of information to the public. Students have also been involved in the planning of the structures and in evaluating the Eisenhower Plan.

Department heads serve as the steering committee for the Eisenhower High School in all phases of the Eisenhower Plan. They, under the supervision of the administration, are responsible for a continual flow of communication with the entire staff. The feelings and attitudes of the entire staff are always incorporated into the basic decision — making progress.

The preliminary thinking of the Eisenhower Plan had its beginning prior to reorganization which became effective July 1, 1966. Credit for the development of this idea into an ideal situation must be given to the former administration and staff of the Eisenhower High School and the school board of the Northern Area Joint School System. The board and administration of the Warren County School District fully endorses the Eisenhower Plan and has implemented facilities and procedures to greatly enhance the total success of the Eisenhower Plan.

The building construction presently under way is quite extensive. It has been designed to meet the needs of the Eisenhower Plan which requires to some degree, areas large enough to permit large group instruction and adequate facilities for independent study programs. Nineteen additional rooms will be available when construction is completed.

These facilities would have been needed under conventional organizational plans, however, as a result of the Eisenhower Plan the size and nature of Plan the size and nature of these facilities have been designed for the full implementation of the Eisenhower Plan.

Present construction provides for, among others, two double classrooms for large group instruction, four science laboratories for the various programs in science, an Instructional Materials Center (more comprehensive than the average library) to permit independent study programs, an arts/crafts center and an additional industrial arts center.

The Eisenhower Plan has promise of adding a new dimension to the educational process in the Warren County School District. It is a bold new step to the Northwestern part of Pennsylvania, however, it is being made after a thorough study of its merit based upon the educational needs of the students involved.

Through the continued efforts of the entire staff of the Eisenhower High School, and the necessary supportive action on the part of the School Board and Central Office Administrators, the Eisenhower Plan could very well be the organizational pattern of the school of tomorrow.

In effect it is highly compatible with the needs and demands of society. That is, it provides the student with the opportunity to seek, explore, and develop areas of interest but with the necessary direction on the part staff personnel to add those dimensions so necessary to become a productive member of society.

Narration will be done by Mrs. James Potter. The dinner for this festive evening is being arranged under the chairmanship of Mrs. Paul Harrington. Reservations are now being accepted by Mrs. Harrington or any of the following: Miss Judy Finley, Miss Hazel Finley, Mrs. Ronald Firestone, Miss Christine Hurd. . . . It is suggested members make them as early as possible, since this promises to be an outstanding evening of delicious food, and, entertainment that can't help but please every woman's heart!

HERE'S ANOTHER CHRISTMAS DO. . . . We haven't even had Thanksgiving yet, but in these busy times with community spirit riding high to meet the demands of community activities, if you don't get plans made early for the Yule season you're apt to find yourself or your organization squeezed out! Really a pity, I liked it the way it used to be, when there was a definite Thanksgiving with its own special individual feeling and flavor to be enjoyed to the fullest before one began to sense the mysterious stirrings of anticipation and that lovely, warm Christmas feeling. . . . Well, to get back to what this paragraph started out with: This is a Christmas Dance to be held by the Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club and the Knights of Columbus Ballroom will be the setting for the evening of Yuletide gaiety. Music will be by The Four Keys. A social hour from 9 to 10 o'clock will start the evening off and dancing will be from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m. Serving on committee are Mrs. Gene Covell, Mrs. Klaus Lichte, Mrs. John Zwald, Mrs. James Peck, Mrs. Carl Wolf, Mrs. Dale Brown, Mrs. Joseph Vought, Mrs. Samuel Dunning, Mrs. Kenneth Kosick, Mrs. Charles Myers, Mrs. Thomas Tomatore, Mrs. H. A. Will and Mrs. Dennis Sealy. Tickets at $4 per couple are available from Ginny Wait 723-0926; Ann Wolf 723-5856; Carol Means 723-7688; Avis Foster-Pegg 723-6046.

A 40TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY OPEN HOUSE will be held on Saturday, November 25th, from 2 to 4 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m. in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bender of South Main street Ext., Jamestown, N.Y. Hosts and hostesses for the affair to be held at the Bender's home are the couple's children: Miss Barbara Bender, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Linder, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bender, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Bender.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I wish you would stop giving stupid, unrealistic advice to wives whose husbands have been unfaithful. How can you expect a woman who has been through the tortures of hell to "forgive and forget"? It looks good on paper, Ann, but human beings just don't operate that way and you should know it.

We were married 17 years. I thought our marriage was as solid as the rock of Gibraltar. My husband was doing well in his profession. Our children were a credit to us. His home was his castle—or so I thought. And then those ugly little clues began to pop up—every wife whose husband has cheated knows them well. Makeup smudges on his shirt which he tries to explain away as "yours, dear." Those last minute phone calls saying he won't be home for dinner. Then he announces he must go away for the weekend—business, of course. When he returns he's too tired for conversation, let alone love.

Finally you tell him of your suspicions. He confesses, swears he loves only you—says he doesn't want a divorce. She means nothing to him. He'll never see her again. He looks you straight in the eye and says, "You owe it to our children to put this out of your mind and go on as if nothing happened."

The next thing I know he hands me your column and you're on his side! "Forgive and forget," you counsel. "Never mention the incident again." How in God's name can I forget? Do you have an answer for me, Ann Landers?—BETRAYED

DEAR BETRAYED: Yes, I have an answer for you—and for the hundreds of other wives who wrote as you did.

You don't want to forgive and forget? All right, then, don't. Keep the painful memories alive by rehabilitating the past at every opportunity. Let him know his deceitfulness has destroyed your faith and broken your heart. Cuss a lot. Drop a few cutting remarks in the presence of the children. Why should the skunk enjoy their respect after what he has done to you? And don't forget the ultimate punishment. When he wants your love, oblige him, but keep the love-making wooden and mechanical so he'll know your heart isn't in it. Force a little smile now and then to make sure he knows you are trying to be brave.

After a while he'll get fed up with the sub-zero temperature at home and he'll tell himself he has a right to seek warmth and comfort elsewhere. By that time you'll have decided that maybe you should forgive and forget. But it will be too late.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My boyfriend is in Vietnam. He has been there for eight months. I wrote to you a month before he left and asked of we should become engaged. You said no. (I was 17 then and you said to wait). I didn't listen to your advice and accepted his ring two days before he shipped out.

I realize now I made a big mistake. I want to send him ring back and tell him it's over. My mother says I should wait until he comes home. I'm so mixed up I don't know what to do. This time I promise to take your advice. What is it?—SORRY NOW

DEAR SORRY: If your boyfriend is fighting in Vietnam the last thing he needs is a shaft through the mail. Wait until he comes home and then give him the jolly tidings.

Too many couples go from matrimony to matrimony. Don't let your marriage flop before it gets started. Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage—What To Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Barr-Zaffino Exchange Vows In Jamestown 1st Methodist

The First Methodist Church in Jamestown, N.Y., was the setting for the exchange of nuptial vows between Miss Judith Ann Barr and Joseph Michael Zaffino. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Barr of 119 Wilson Place, Jamestown, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Zaffino of 417 Prospect street, Warren. The wedding took place Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Rev. Raymond E. Pison, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring rites. Wedding music was provided by Mrs. Clessen E. Peck, organist. Arrangements of white mums and Eternal Sun roses were used with candelabra holding lighted tapers, in decorating the altar. White satin bows with greens and white mums marked the family pews.

Escorted on the arm of her father, the bride appeared in a gown of white peau de sole, styled with Kabuki sleeves of Venetian lace and an empire bodice accented with appliques of the lace. The straight floor length skirt had cascades of lace medallions and the detachable chapel train was edged with appliques of the lace. Her veil of silk illusion fell to the waist from a crown of Venetian lace. She carried an arm bouquet of bridal roses tied with white satin ribbon.

The maid of honor, Miss Linda Marie Johnson of Jamestown, was in moss green velvet with beige crepe. She had a floral headdress with veil and carried Eternal Sun roses with matching satin ribbon.

The best man was James L. Barr, brother of the bride, and ushers were David Hunter and Bruno Vavala both of Warren. The mother of the bride chose a beige knit with brown velvet and beige headdress, and she had a corsage of green double cymbidium orchids. The mother of the groom was in a rose knit with matching floral headdress and veil, and had a corsage of white double cymbidium orchids.

A reception was given for seventy at the Terrace Inn Motel where a buffet dinner was served. Special organ music was provided by Mrs. Leslie Ostrander of Jamestown. The centerpiece was of white mums and Eternal Sun roses with white tapers in silver candlesticks. The three tier wedding cake was topped with nasegay of white mums and Eternal Sun roses.

Favored with rose corsages were the brides: Mrs. James L. Barr, sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Judy DiVita of Jamestown, Mrs. David Hunter of Warren, Mrs. Thomas Rosenquist of Warren, sister of the groom.

After December 1, and a two week honeymoon in Florida, the newlyweds will reside at 208½ Jackson avenue, Warren. The bride is an employee at Warren Components, and the groom is with Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., Warren.

Pre-nuptial affairs were given by Mrs. James Barr, Miss Linda Johnson, Mrs. Bert Klein of Jamestown, N.Y.; Mrs. David Hunter, Mrs. Michael Zaffino and Mrs. Thomas Rosenquist of Warren.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the parents of the groom at the Red Coach Inn, Jamestown.

Out of town guests attended the wedding from New York City, Youngsville, Bradford and Warren.

Local Women At Directors Meeting

Mrs. William Houston and Mrs. Walter Jones attended the board of directors meeting of Penn Lakes Council, Girl Scouts of America, held at the council headquarters in Meadville last week.

Miss Lois Harner, executive director announced that Region III of which Penn Lakes is a part, and Region IV have been selected to be the pilot councils in the redistricting of the present twelve regions into six. The target date for the consolidation of the two regions is March 31.

Mrs. Mary Briggs, president, presided at the meeting. The Penn Lakes budget was reviewed and, upon the recommendation of the finance committee, the board voted to operate on the budget as originally planned. The personnel committee presented revised personnel policies which were adopted. The board members who attended the National Council meeting of Region III in Washington in October gave brief reports.

It was voted to close all offices on Friday, November 24, and on Tuesday, December 26. The next board meeting will be February 21, 1968.

REVIVE WINDOW SHADES

When past the cleaning stage, window shades may be renovated by covering on one side with adhesive backed plastic in a color to bring depth and light into the room.

Try cleaning your non-washable shades with cornmeal, art gum or a commercial cleaner on the outer side. For washable shades, spread flat and scrub with a stiff brush, using a brush. Wash a small section at a time and overlap strokes. Rinse with a clean damp cloth. Hang and allow to dry before rerolling.

Zonta Club's Birthday Celebrated

Zonta Club celebrated its birthday on Thursday evening with a dinner at the Penn Laurel.

A special three tier birthday cake was baked by one of the members, Mrs. Frances Crump in honor of the occasion. A new member, Mrs. Eleanor Ross, was initiated into the club and welcomed by all present.

A report was made by Mrs. Virginia Hohman, who was a delegate to the District IV conference of Zonta International at Hamilton, Ontario. Among the newly elected officers was Miss Ursula Johnson as Resolutions chairman for the district. Special recognition was given to the Warren chapter in the public relations field and for its annual March of Dimes campaign.

In place of the annual gift exchange, it was decided that a donation will be made by each member at the next meeting in order that others may be remembered for Christmas.

Because of the Christmas holidays, the only meeting in December will be on December 14 at the Blue Manor.

particular interest to the clergy will be the discussion on a proposed group insurance plan, a resolution suggested by the Board of Pensions of the denomination, and minimum salaries recommended by the Synod of Pennsylvania.

BE A HANDYWOMAN
If like many housewives you have become an expert "handyman," offer your services to those who have no talent along these lines; minor repairs and such renovations as painting, wallpapering and floor covering. ### Grange Notes

The Diamond Grange held their regular meeting recently with Ralph Rapp presiding. The meeting was preceded by a tureen supper at 6:30 p.m. Roll call was taken and all officers were present. A report on the fruit cake sale was made and it showed that the sales were moving rapidly. It was announced that the grange would hold its annual harvest supper on Saturday, December 9.

The Seventh degree association will hold their regular meeting November 25 in Diamond Grange Hall, Tiona. The men will be serving oyster stew; vegetable soup will also be served. Meetings for the coming years were discussed and a musical gimmick was acted out by all the members. A reading "My Kin Folks" was read by Jean Johnson. The lecturer then closed the program with the poem "Something good about you."

The next meeting will be a tureen dinner and all members are to come prepared to do something on Thanksgiving.

The Chandlers Valley Grange will hold its regular meeting today with a Thanksgiving dinner at 8 preceded by a meeting at 7 p.m. The theme of the program will be Thanksgiving. Instead of the first meeting this month, the grange had a Halloween Party-Square Dance. Furnishing the music for the event were Ken and Bob Frazier, Bob Frazier Jr. and Lenny Lillano, Barzill Dyer, a member of the grange was the caller.

Members should remember their old glasses and frames for New Eyes for the Needy.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN
(By 1967 The Chicago Tribune)

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠J6 ♥QJ3 ♦KJ82 ♣A973

The bidding has proceeded: West North East South

1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass

2 ♣ Dble. Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Pass. Had partner wanted you to bid, he would have doubled on the second round is obviously for penalties, and you have just the material to convert it into a handsome profit.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠10643 ♥AQ2 ♦AKQ1093

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East

1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass

2 ♣ Dble. Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Three diamonds. A slightly aggressive call, but this hand figures to produce seven tricks and if partner has adequate protection in the black suits a game may be scored in no trump. A bid of only two diamonds would be too conservative.

Q. 3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠J4 ♥AQ62 ♦AQ10 ♣AQJ10

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East

1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass

2 ♣ Dble. Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Pass, the somewhat reluctantly it is distinctly disappointing to give up a hand worth 20 points, but facts must be faced and it is clear that partner has practically nothing, so that no action would be safe.

Q. 4—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠A1032 ♥Q1086 ♦7 ♣8764

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West

1 ♥ Pass 2 ♥ Pass

2 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Four hearts. You have a minimum raise, counting an additional point for the promoted heart honor. A game bid is clearly indicated, as partner is obviously showing additional values and testing the quality of your raise.

Q. 5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠732 ♥A42 ♦K873 ♣AQ9

The bidding has proceeded: West North East South

Pass 1 ♥ Pass 2 ♥ Pass

2 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Three hearts is quite adequate. Your hand is not as good as the high cards would seem to indicate, due to the evenly balanced distribution. In fact, deducting a point for dummy's flaws, your hand is worth less than the 13 points required to assure a game.

Q. 6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠AQ1086 ♥A♦1064 ♣AQ102

The bidding has proceeded: East South West North

Pass 1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass

Pass 2 ♣ Pass 2 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Pass. Partner has indicated a weak hand (he wasn't strong enough to bid his suit at the two level immediately) with length in hearts. He clearly does not care for either spades or clubs, so you have no alternative but to withdraw reluctantly from the auction.

Q. 7—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠Q1093 ♥53 ♦8 ♣KJ10975

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East

Pass 1 NT Dble. Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Three clubs. This is a perfect descriptive bid. With a good hand you would have passed the double, with a weak hand you would have made a simple take-out. The jump bid, however, there, indicates a holding not rich in high cards but, nonetheless, containing good playing strength.

Q. 8—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠AK742 ♥A42 ♦105 ♣J93

The bidding has proceeded: North East South

3 ♦ Pass ?

What do you bid?

A—Three spades. North's vulnerable preempt promises seven winners which with your three puts you on the verge of game and makes a four level contract reasonably safe. The probing bid is well worth the effort for, if partner has some spade support, there may be a game in that suit. If he merely returns to four diamonds you may retire from the proceedings. The three spade bid is, of course, forcing for one round.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, FOR MONDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1967.

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—Recheck all schedules and make sure that others understand your position, stand. Don't let communications be loose or only imagined. Insist on getting things in writing, and express yourself in clear language.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—Short trips and visits may be annoying but required. By doing them in person you can get to the heart of a taxing, pending matter. Make full use of your sharp perception. Read ALL the fine print.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Benefic aspects predominate. You may be able to outwit competition and put across a quick gain, but take it easy. Remember to be alert to what monetary matters include, wise investments, too. Studies, skills, incentive pay well.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—Do not believe just in that "pie in the sky." It is what you have within your grasp and not in your dreams that must be considered, but dreams give incentive. The esteem in which others hold you increases with your every effort.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—What position are you playing in life? The one you really want or one chosen by someone's necessity? In any event, you have the know-how and stamina to succeed in every case. Play the game like a veteran.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—Some older person may have an important bearing on your moves. Do take time for deliberation but don't neglect getting your "show on the road." Late comers don't have as much time to develop things adequately.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—New wisdom should be yours. Possibly because of some sad experience or a disappointing endeavor. From such you learn a great deal and can apply realistic answers that will fit occasions to a "T."

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23)—Tricks and deceptions of others may be tried on you. Be ready to thwart them in your soundly capable manner. Don't take anything for granted. Put things in their proper perspective and handle accordingly.

SAGITTARIUS (November 24 to December 21)—Be alert to due money matters, for the non-thinker and his money are soon parted. The need to learn is a stimulating whip that stirs you into cryptic but thorough action resulting in big gains.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Information, discussion or an invitation may hold the nucleus of new enchanting adventure. Sift all meticulously and call out the important for further consideration. In free hours relax sensibly.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—What league are you playing in? The "majors" or the "minors"? Your inherent talents suitably employed fit you for the majors. Place your distinctive abilities on the line and emerge victorious.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Do you like things the way they are? If discouraged or dissatisfied look around for something that better suits your aptitudes. But first remember your routine, duties that are bringing home the bacon.

YOU BORN TODAY? Are one who when awakened to the genuine possibilities for you to embrace will emerge as a real go-getter to assure yourself of a sturdy position in life. But there are dangers such as trying to cover too much ground sketchily so build on firm foundations and concentrate on lasting essentials. Although you are fond of luxuries you have the ability to put to good use much of what would be thrown away or ignored by less penetrating individuals. You are determined, logical and keen; rely heavily upon these assets, they can serve you well.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

(c) 1967 by The Chicago Tribune

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

THE BATTERED BABY

The prevalence of child abuse and the mal-treatment syndrome have been widely publicized. I have avoided the subject because it is shocking and repugnant. Social workers tell us it is nothing new and is common in many civilized countries. Some areas in the United States have laws requiring medical reporting of child abuse. We also have a National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children (N.S.P.C.C.)—the need for such a group is a sad commentary.

The guilty parents are usually ignorant, poor, promiscuous, or suffer from mental disease or alcoholism. In many instances there are no family ties. Mothers are the most frequent offenders followed by fathers, baby sitters, paramours, and siblings. Battered babies usually have a variety of orthopedic, congenital, or hereditary defects. A high percentage are born out of wedlock.

Cruelty to children is difficult to prove and more so when the lyke cannot talk. Physicians are reluctant to blame parents or guardians. They believe that the majority of injuries are accidental and are caused unwittingly even when the parent is responsible. Foul play is suspected when the baby is battered yet injury is blamed on a fall from the table or bed. The child may be black and blue but X-rays also show broken bones or a skull fracture—injuries far more serious than those sustained in a fall.

Maltreatment involves physical injury as well as deprivation of nutrition, care, and affection. Its intent is not accidental, but willful. Abused youngsters have been burned or denied liquids and food leading to dehydration or malnutrition.

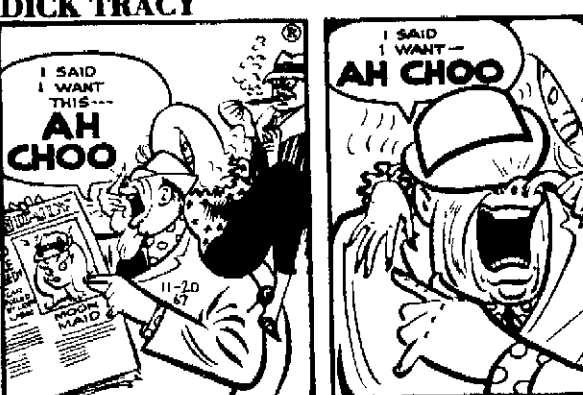

The physician may be suspicious but proving wrongdoing is not easy. He may be sued if wrong and his reluctance to blame the parents is understandable. The child's safety is his main concern. A detailed history including treatment in other hospitals and by other medicals is discussed. When he can substantiate his suspicions, the police are notified.

TOMORROW: Rule of Nines in Burns.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

TODAY'S HEALTH HINT—Check the child's immunization schedule.

Talking Turkey & Trimmings

When it comes to planning Thanksgiving dinner, nine out of ten homemakers choose turkey. Turkey it was at the Pilgrims' first Thanksgiving back in 1621, and turkey it is in the space age. This holiday, try some new touches to vary the traditional family feast.

First and foremost, there's turkey. This noble bird is at its best butter-roasted, brushed with melted butter several times during the cooking period. The glorious natural flavor of butter also enhances the dressing made the old-fashioned way with turkey giblets, bread crumbs, celery, onion, carrots and sage. Toast the bread so the crumbs will be crunchy, not soft.

Along with your Butter-Roasted Turkey serve mashed potatoes and country-style gravy made with pan drippings. Complete the dinner with any vegetables or salads you like. How about Sweet Potatoes and Apples baked in casserole with butter and brown sugar? Delicious! Other vegetables like green beans and cauliflower can be dressed up with a Cheese-Onion Sauce. Salad should be simple and fairly tart, so make a Cottage Cranberry Ring. Orange and spice-seasoned cottage cheese is mounded in a ring of molded whole cranberry sauce.

By custom, Thanksgiving dessert is either pumpkin or mince pie. For a new taste experience, combine the two. Bake a creamy pumpkin pie made with evaporated milk, top with a layer of mincemeat and chopped nuts for a delightful finale to a festive Thanksgiving.

- + BUTTER ROASTED TURKEY 12-16 pound turkey
- + VEGETABLE-GIBLET STUFFING:
  - 1 loaf (1 1/2 lb.) white bread
  - 1 cup (2 sticks) butter
  - 1 cup chopped celery
  - 1/2 cup chopped onion
  - 1 cup shredded carrots (3 medium)
  - 2 teaspoons sage
  - Giblets
  - Stock from giblets
- + GRAVY:
  - 1/2 cup flour
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - 1 cup drippings from roasting turkey
  - 3 1/2 cups liquid (stock plus water)

If turkey is frozen, thaw in refrigerator in sealed bag turkey comes in allowing about 6 hours per pound. When thawed remove giblets. Simmer turkey neck and giblets in salted water to cover for 1 1/2-2 hours or until fork tender. Strain liquid; refrigerate, for dressing and gravy. Remove meat from neck; cut giblets into small pieces. Refrigerate until ready to use in stuffing.

To prepare Stuffing: Toast bread in oven, turning occasionally, until golden brown and thoroughly dry. With rolling pin roll into crumbs. In a skillet melt butter; add celery and onions and saute until tender. In a large bowl combine crumbs, celery and onions with butter, carrots, salt, sage and giblets. Add 1 1/2 cups stock from giblets (amount depending on moisture desired in stuffing). Reserve remaining stock. Makes about 10 cups stuffing.

When turkey is thawed and ready to stuff, rinse body and neck cavities with cold water; drain. Salt cavities lightly. To stuff turkey: Pack stuffing lightly into body and neck cavity. Fasten neck skin down by folding wings back akimbo or with a poultry pin. Fasten legs of turkey according to packers directions.

To roast stuffed turkey: Place turkey on rack in roasting pan, breast side up. Brush with melted butter. Cover loosely with tent of aluminum foil. Place on low rack in preheated 325 degree oven. Brush about once an hour with melted butter or drippings in pan. Roast 4-5 hours or until the thickest portion of the thigh is very soft when pressed between the thumb and forefinger.

To prepare Gravy: In a saucepan combine flour and salt. Gradually add drippings from roasting turkey (you may want to skim off some of the fat), stirring until smooth. Add liquid, stirring until smooth. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cook 2 additional minutes. Salt to taste.

Caution: For storage of leftover turkey, remove all dressing and refrigerate or freeze in separate container.

potatoes. In a small saucepan melt butter. Add sugar and water; bring to boil. Pour over potatoes. Bake in preheated 325 degree oven about 45 minutes, basting occasionally, or until apples are tender. Makes 8-10 servings.

+ COTTAGE CRANBERRY RING

+ CRANBERRY RING:
1 pound (4 cups) cranberries
1 cup water
2 cups sugar

+ COTTAGE CHEESE FILLING:
2 tablespoons orange rind
1 tablespoon orange juice
1 teaspoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon

To prepare Cranberry Ring: In a 2-quart saucepan combine cranberries and water. Boil until skins pop, crushing berries against sides of pan with wooden spoon. Add sugar and return to boil. Pour into 4 1/2-cup ring mold; chill until firm. To prepare Cottage Cheese Filling: Combine orange rind and juice, sugar and cinnamon; gently fold into cottage cheese. Just before serving unmold cranberry ring onto chilled plate and fill with cottage cheese mixture. Makes 8-10 servings.

+ CHEESE-ONION SAUCE
3 tablespoons butter
1/4 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons flour
1 1/4 cups milk
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese

In a 1-quart saucepan melt butter; add onion and saute 5 minutes. Blend in flour. Remove from heat; gradually add milk. Return to heat and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Cook 2 additional minutes. Remove from heat and stir in cheese until melted. If necessary, return to low heat to finish melting cheese. (Do not boil.) Serve immediately over cooked cauliflower or green beans. Yield: 1 1/4 cups.

+ MINCEMEAT-PUMPKIN PIE CRUST:

1 1/2 cups sifted regular all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter
1/4 cup lard

3-4 tablespoons water

PUMPKIN FILLING:

3 1/2 cups (1 lb, 13-oz. can) pumpkin

1 1/4 cups firmly packed brown sugar

1 tablespoon cinnamon

1 teaspoon salt

1 teaspoon ginger

1 teaspoon nutmeg

1/2 teaspoon mace

1/4 teaspoon cloves

6 eggs, slightly beaten

2 1/2 cups evaporated milk

MINCEMEAT TOPPING:

1 jar (1 lb, 4 oz.) mincemeat

1/2 cup chopped walnuts

To prepare Crust: Into a bowl sift together flour and salt. Cut in butter and lard until mixture resembles small peas. Sprinkle water over flour mixture, 1 tablespoon at a time, mixing lightly with fork after each addition. Gather up dough with fingers; shape into ball. Divide dough into 2 portions. On lightly floured board flatten dough slightly and roll 1/4-inch thick into circle 1-inch larger than diameter of pie plate. Ease each portion into 9-inch pie plates, build up rim around pie plates, flute edges. To prepare Filling: In a bowl combine pumpkin and brown sugar. Blend in cinnamon, salt, ginger, nutmeg, mace and cloves. Mix in eggs; gradually stir in evaporated milk. Pour 4 cups pumpkin mixture into each pie shell. Bake in preheated 400 degree oven 40-45 minutes or until a knife inserted near center comes out clean.

To prepare Topping: In a bowl stir together mincemeat and walnuts. Spread 1 cup mixture on each pie when removed from oven. Cool on wire rack. Top each serving with a dollop of whipped cream. Makes 2 pies.

Note: Mincemeat topping may be omitted and pumpkin pie served with sweetened whipped cream.

What do you have to be thankful for?

A great deal we hope.

Because we at A&P have much.

We're thankful for God's blessings on our great country.

We're thankful for the free enterprise system that has allowed us to serve you for more than a century.

We're thankful, that again this year we'll be privileged to play a part in making Thanksgiving feasting a memorable occasion for so many.

But most of all we're thankful for you... for your patronage and loyalty.

When you come in we hope that the warmth of our service, the completeness of our selection and the dependability of our values will tell you better than words how thankful we are.

Roasting Directions For Ready-to-Stuff Turkey

Stops Tormenting Rectal Itch

Exclusive Formula Promptly Stops Itching, Burning and Relieves Pain of Piles In Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): The embarrassing itch caused by hemorrhoids is most tortuous. But science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases - to promptly stop the burning itch, relieve pain and actually shrink hemorrhoids. And all without narcotics or stinging astringents of any kind.

The secret is Preparation H. There is no other hemorrhoid formula like it. Preparation H also lubricates, soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

THAW BEFORE ROASTING: Thaw in bag in refrigerator. Allow 1 to 2 days for an 8 to 11 pound turkey, 2 to 3 days for an 11 to 18 pound turkey, and 3 to 4 days for an 18 to 24 pound turkey. For quicker thawing, place turkey in unopened bag in a pan, and cover with lukewarm water. Keep thawed turkey in refrigerator. Do not refreeze.

PREPARATION FOR ROASTING: Free legs and tail from tucked position. Remove neck from main cavity. Rinse turkey and drain. Stuff neck and body cavities lightly (about 3/4 cup stuffing per pound purchased weight). Return tail and legs to tucked position. Skewer neck skin to back.

TO COOK NECK AND GIBBELTS: Simmer in salted water until tender, about 1/2 hour for the liver and 2 to 2 1/2 hours for neck, heart, and gizzard.

TWO WAYS TO ROAST: Use uncovered pan for attractive turkey to carve at table. Use covered pan to shorten roasting time though bird will be less attractive. (If portable electric roaster is used, follow manufacturer's directions and time schedule.)

UNCOVERED PAN METHOD: Place turkey, breast side up on a rack in shallow open pan. Use no water or cover. Spoon melted fat over turkey. Lay loose tent of foil over breast and thighs, or cover with several thicknesses of cheesecloth. Remove foil toward end of roasting if further browning is necessary.

Roast in slow oven (325 degrees F.). Use chart as a guide for length of roasting time. Dark enameled roasters were used for roasting times. If a shiny light roaster pan is used, it may be necessary to increase time as much as 1 hour.

APPROXIMATE ROASTING TIME
Weight as Purchased; Uncovered Pan 325 degrees F. oven:
8 to 11 pounds - 4 1/2 to 5 1/2 hours
11 to 14 pounds - 5 1/2 to 6 1/2 hours
14 to 18 pounds - 6 1/2 to 8 hours
18 to 24 pounds - 8 to 9 1/2 hours

COVERED PAN METHOD: Place turkey breast side up on a rack in a roaster. Use no water. Cover. Remove cover toward end of roasting if further browning is necessary. Roast in moderate oven (350 degrees F.). Use chart as a guide for length of roasting time. Dark enameled roasters were used for roasting times. If a shiny light roaster pan is used, it may be necessary to increase time as much as 1 hour.

APPROXIMATE ROASTING TIME
Weight as Purchased; Covered Pan 350 degrees F. oven:
8 to 11 pounds - 2 1/2 to 3 hours
11 to 14 pounds - 3 to 3 1/2 hours
14 to 18 pounds - 3 1/2 to 4 hours
18 to 24 pounds - 4 to 4 1/2 hours

TESTS FOR DONENESS: Differences in ovens, pans, shape and starting temperature of turkeys may cause variations in length of roasting time. Use the following tests to determine doneness:

1. Protect thumb and forefinger with paper or cloth. Pinch thickest portion of drumstick. Meat should feel soft.
2. Insert roast meat thermometer into thigh muscle next to body cavity. Temperature should be about 185 degrees F.

TO STORE: When the turkey has been roasted, serve within 1/2 hour. After service, remove the remaining stuffing and store the stuffing and the turkey separately in the refrigerator.

Meat: Loaf Oven Potatoes
Scalloped Tomatoes with Snap Beans
Self-Frosted Spice Cake

SELF-FROSTED SPICE CAKE
1 1/2 cups sifted regular flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1/2 c. butter or margarine
3/4 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
1 egg yolk
3/4 cup buttermilk
Meringue Topping
1/4 cup finely chopped walnuts
On wax paper sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, cinnamon and cloves. In medium mixing bowl, cream butter and sugar; thoroughly beat in egg yolk. Stir in sifted ingredients, alternately with buttermilk, in several additions. Turn into buttered 11 by 7 by 2 inch pan. Spread Meringue Topping over batter. Sprinkle with walnuts. Bake in a 375-degree oven until tester inserted in center comes out clean—25 to 30 minutes. Loosen sides; turn out on wire rack; turn right side up; cool.

Meringue Topping: Beat 1 egg white until it holds soft peaks; gradually beat in 1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar.

WESTERN OMELET
3 tablespoons butter
1 1/2 cups thin strips onion (2 medium)
3/4 cup thin strips green pepper (1/2 large pepper)
3/4 cup thin strips baked ham
6 eggs lightly beaten
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 16 teaspoon white pepper
In a 10-inch skillet in 1 1/2 tablespoons of the butter, gently cook the onion, green pepper and ham until vegetables are limp; turn out and keep warm. In clean skillet, melt the remaining butter; mix eggs with salt and pepper and turn into hot butter. Cook gently, drawing edges away from side of pan and tipping pan so uncooked egg reaches edges. (Cover, if necessary, to set top.) Turn vegetable mixture over one side of omelet; fold over other side. Serve with chili sauce. Makes 3 servings.

Turn 1/4 cup mayonnaise, 2 teaspoons lemon juice and 1/2 teaspoon salt into a small mixing bowl; stir together. Add chicken, celery, grapes and pine nuts; mix well. Add more mayonnaise, lemon juice and salt if desired. Turn out on salad greens; sprinkle with paprika. Makes 2 servings.

YOU'RE TELLING ME!

The St. Louis Zoo has been faced with a unique problem. Its prized demoiselle and crowned cranes have been leaping over their pen fences to catch and gobble up insects in the surrounding park. Just another case of being fed up with home cooking?

Glamorous Turkey

For an especially festive bird which will have appeal to the traditionalist as well as to the adventurer, here are a couple of easy-to-do ideas. They will, figuratively speaking, turn a turkey into a veritable peacock!

The turkey will look more glorious than usual—but basically it will have a traditional "story book" look. However, it's the Twin Sausage and Apple-Nut Dressings, both variations of a simple bread dressing, that will make the difference. For families that can't agree on which is their favorite dressing, the Test Kitchens of The R. T. French Company, Rochester, N. Y., developed the recipes and suggest stuffing the neck of the turkey with the spicy sausage stuffing, the body cavity with a dressing delicately seasoned with apples. This holiday, nobody can complain that they "got the neck" of the bird—they will probably take it by choice!

The second "glamorizing" idea is the glaze. It adds a beautiful golden brown color, and a fruit-mustard tang to the browning turkey; with a simple current, orange marmalade, or cranberry base.

Serve all of the favorite trimmings, or here's a suggested menu:

Golden Glazed Roast Turkey
Twin Sausage and Apple-Nut Dressings
Cranberry Sauce
Mashed Potatoes—Giblet Gravy
Broccoli with Lemon Butter
Candied Squash Rings or Glazed Onions
California Avocado, Orange and Grapefruit Salad
Beverages
Pumpkin Custard with Whipped Cream
Apple Tarts

Let's talk turkey. For an unusual approach to the usual, here is how to make the dressings, and the fruit mustard glazes.

GLAZED TURKEY WITH

TWIN DRESSINGS

Prepare Sausage and Apple-Nut Dressings according to the following recipe. Keep dressing refrigerated until used. Prepare 12 to 14-pound turkey for roasting. Lightly stuff neck and forward part of body cavity with one kind of dressing. Lightly fill remaining cavity with other dressing. (Any leftover dressing can be baked in foil package for 1 hour along with turkey.) Close cavity and secure wings and legs. Roast turkey as desired.

Prepare one of the glaze recipes given below. 30 to 45 minutes before end of roasting time, brush with glaze then with pan drippings or butter. Alternately brush with glaze and drippings several times until turkey is done. Note: Use pan drippings for making gravy—the mustard glaze gives it a delicious flavor!

TWIN SAUSAGE AND APPLE-NUT DRESSINGS

1 1/2 cups finely diced celery
1/2 cup butter or margarine
6 cups (tightly packed) cubed day-old bread
2 tablespoons French's Instant Mince Onion
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon French's Poultry Seasoning
1 pound bulk pork sausage, lightly browned and drained
1 tablespoon French's Parsley Flakes
1 cup diced tart apple
1/4 cup plumped raisins
1/4 cup chopped walnuts
1/2 teaspoon French's Cinnamon
Cook celery in butter over low heat 5 minutes. Toss lightly with bread, onion, salt and poultry seasoning. Divide dressing in half. To one half add sausage and parsley flakes. To other half add apple, raisins, walnuts, and cinnamon. Ample dressing for 12 to 14 pound turkey.

CURRENT GLAZE
1/2 cup currant jelly
1/2 cup French's Prepared Yellow Mustard
Combine jelly and mustard

CHANGE FROM THE USUAL

Want a change from the usual this Thanksgiving? Golden Glazed Roast Turkey, with a tangy fruit-mustard glaze, looks the part of the traditional Thanksgiving bird. However, the over low heat, stirring until jelly is melted. 1 cup.

Twin Sausage and Apple-Nut Dressings take the turkey out of the ordinary and into the extraordinary.

ORANGE MARMALADE

1/2 cup orange marmalade
1/2 cup French's Prepared Yellow Mustard
Mix together marmalade and mustard. 1 cup.

CRANBERRY GLAZE
1/2 cup jellied cranberry sauce
1/4 cup butter or drippings

2 tablespoons French's Prepared Yellow Mustard
Combine cranberry sauce, butter and mustard over low heat, stirring until mixture is well blended. About 1/4 cup.
